SCOTT'S WIFE TESTIFIES AT DIVORCE TRIAL

Says Husband Threatened to Blacken Her Reputation
When They Separated

HOUSE EMPLOYEE ON STAND

Testifies That Mrs. Scott and Hotel Guest Were "Often Half Shot"

By Associated Press
Alpena, Mich.—Mrs. Edna J. Scott, testifying at the divorce trial brought by her husband, Congressman Frank D. Scott, Wednesday declared that on the eve of their separation in 1922 Scott had threatened to blacken her reputation. "I'll drag your skirts through the mud so that no one will want to look at you," she quoted him as saying.

Under cross examination Mrs. Scott denied ever having been unduly friendly with Captain Wilbur Sumner or with anyone else.

Frederick B. Sikes, formerly a house employe at the Lee House, Washington, testified by deposition that Mrs. Scott had entertained Captain Bessinger, a fellow guest at the hotel, in her room there. This was in 1923, after the Scotts had separated.

"I saw them often in Mrs. Scott's room," Sikes deposed. "I peeked through the keyhole and saw them sitting close together. She usually was sitting on his knee." He added that Mrs. Scott and Bessinger "were half shot lots of times."

After she had been at the Lee house some time, she got a room next to the one occupied by Bessinger, the Sikes deposition said. Mrs. Scott and Bessinger went motoring in Bessinger's car three or four times a week and never were in before midnight, the deposition said.

CHINESE POLICE FIGHT STRIKERS

TESTIMONY TAKEN, TUESDAY
Court adjourned court after Mrs. Scott testified that her husband had hurled profane epithets at her during a recess of the hearing last January.

She also denied, tearfully, the use of unbecoming language toward her husband the night of their separation in Washington. Offers of reconciliation which came into the room during the reading of depositions Tuesday were received with tilted chin by Mrs. Scott and with a blank stare by the congressman.

The couple sat through Tuesday's session with only the width of the counsel table between them. What congressman Scott has previously described as "noisy party" at his apartment the night of Oct. 28, 1922, with Mrs. Scott playing hostess to two millionaires, was pictured as a casual and perfectly proper call by Mrs. Clifford Ireland, wife of the former Illinois congressman, who said in her deposition that both men conducted themselves as gentlemen should.

A party at the quarters of Captain Wilbur "Jazzbo" Sumner at Fort Meyers, Va., October, 1922, which had been painted as a tete a tete between Mrs. Scott and Captain Sumner, was in reality, a dinner in honor of a sister of Capt. Wm. Mitchell, former brigadier general, the deposition said.

Other testimonies Tuesday were that drinking was the regular thing in official circles of Washington in 1921-23.

ESTABLISH NEW FIRE DISTRICTS IN STATE

Madison—Two new fire districts are being established in northeastern Wisconsin, C. L. Harrington, in charge of the forestry work of the state conservation commission announced Wednesday.

The conservation commission is organizing and equipping the districts, which comprise about two million acres, including most of Marinette, Forest and Florence counties. Look-out towers will be erected on prominent hills near Stone Lake, Dunbar, Penbina, Cedarville and Pine River.

The limits of six fire districts have been definitely prescribed, Mr. Harrington said. Three of the districts are well organized, and work on another is in prospect this fall, he said.

ZIMMERMAN DENIES HE FAVORS ANY CANDIDATE

By Associated Press
Madison—Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman Wednesday denied reports that he would support Francis E. McGovern or any other candidate for the United States senate.

"I have not expressed a preference among the candidates for United States Senator except to say that I am opposed to Governor John J. Blaine for any office," said Zimmerman.

THWART PLANS

Plans for a nationwide drive to raise funds for a memorial to William Jennings Bryan in Florida, which were instituted by Miss Dionea Bryan Evans (above) who said she was Mrs. Bryan's goddaughter, have been discontinued by the commonwealth's widow. A memorial in Arlington cemetery at Washington is the only one she approved.

AMERICAN MANAGER OF MILL IS FORCED TO FLEE WITH FAMILY FOR SAFETY

Tientsin.—Following disturbances that lasted throughout the day at Paoheng mill, Chinese police and military forces fired on riotous strikers wounding several, principally in the legs. The trouble was instigated by agitators from Shanghai who are exerting strenuous efforts to spread the strike to Tientsin.

The disturbance began Saturday when workmen, mostly Shanghai residents employed the firing of an employee as the pretext for a strike riot. The mill office window and office furniture were smashed and the American manager, Burton, his wife and family were compelled to make hasty retreats from the menacing mob.

BELIEVE WEEKS WILL NOT RETURN TO CABINET

By Associated Press
Swampscott, Mass.—The visit of Secretary of War Weeks at White Court has strengthened the belief that he will never return to the cabinet. President Coolidge intimated as much Tuesday after the secretary, leaving his residence alone for the first time since stricken seriously ill last spring, had talked with him for half an hour. Mr. Weeks declared that his return to Washington, hindered on complete recovery of his health.

Several possible successors have been mentioned, among them Charles D. Hilles, Republican national committee man from New York, and Dwight Davis of Missouri, now acting Secretary of War.

Retail Men At Convention Declare Business Is Sound

Chicago—Several hundred retail men from 20 middle western states opened their eighth semi-annual convention of the Interstate Merchants Council here Wednesday. They will devote three days to business plans, and to methods for developing the Chicago wholesale market, to better serve the retail merchants of the entire country.

President C. W. Hall, Green Bay, in his address, opening the convention, forecast excellent business conditions for the fall and winter and lauded "the sound, sane and constructive policy" of President Coolidge in economic affairs.

The administration's handling of business affairs during the last two years has brought American commerce to a position of soundness and

SPOONER HAS $20,000 FIRE; NONE INJURED

Quick Action on Part of Fire Department Saves Entire City Block

By Associated Press
Spoonerville—Quick action on the part of the local fire department Tuesday night is the only thing which saved an entire block in the heart of the Spoonerville business district from destruction when fire was discovered at 1:30 o'clock in the Shipley flat of the Ganske building.

Origin of the blaze is unknown. The alarm was turned in by Mrs. Shipley. Two of her daughters, sleeping in the back bedroom, had barely time to escape and almost suffered suffocation from the smoke. They saved only an armful of clothes. Their loss in personal property is estimated at about $500 without insurance.

F. L. Ganske, who had a stock of shoes and furnishings on the first floor and in the basement of the building, suffered loss of about $13,000 which is partially covered by insurance. The building also is covered by insurance.

The Lammor Drug Co., also in the building, had a loss of about $400 from the flames and from smoke and water. With damage of about $4,000 to the building, the total loss is estimated at about $20,000.

SMOKES, DRINKS, PETTING TABOO AT CALIFORNIA

Berkeley, Calif.—Women freshmen who enroll in the University of California this week will learn that the women's executive committee has been active during the summer vacation.

Among practices that the committee let it be known Monday it will not tolerate are:

Hose rolled below the knee.
Too generous use of rouge and lipstick.
Indulgence in cigarettes.
Petting parties and drinking intoxicants.
Violations of the code will mean trial before the women's committee.

FAILS TO FIND THREE AVIATORS LOST JULY 27

By Associated Press
Chicago—Charles Fries, friend of Eugene Cottellier, Earl P. Ranker and Norris M. Gathercoal, Chicago aviators who have been missing since July 27 when they left in a plane for Detroit, has returned from a fruitless search for trace of them.

Fries said he visited Gary, South Haven, Ludington, Mich., Milwaukee and other points. He said there was no truth in reports that the three had flown at a Ludington circus.

Mrs. Mary Cottellier, mother of one aviator, collapsed when told of the unsuccessful search.

President Endorses Plan For Commercial Aviation

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1925 by Post Pub Co.
Swampscott—President Coolidge has given his hearty endorsement to the idea of using dirigibles and airplanes to carry on commerce in the air.

The president has not yet decided the extent to which the government can aid private enterprise in developing commercial aviation but he has asked the Secretaries of Navy and Commerce to investigate the problem thoroughly and report to him.

Three separate groups have laid their plans before the president but only one of them contemplates the use of dirigibles. It so happens that the "Los Angeles" which was built by Germany cannot be used for military purposes under the terms of the Versailles treaty whereby she was given to the United States. So the army and navy really are unable to make much use of her and her value lies chiefly in experimental navigation.

The Shenandoah, on the other hand, will continue to be used by the navy for any purpose whatsoever as she is American built. There is nothing also to prevent the United States from copying the "Los Angeles" but airships are expensive and the navy's idea has been to demonstrate the value of the blimps before asking congress to appropriate huge sums for more ships.

HOOPER FAVORS PLAN
Secretary Hoover is thoroughly absorbed in the possibilities of commercial expansion which has fascinated the chief executive. The use of dirigibles for fast mail and passenger service is only a small part of the ultimate projects because in the transfer from point to point of preels and

FIVE PERISH IN FOREST BLAZES

Forester Reports Fires in Pacific Northwest the Worst in Many Years

San Francisco—Forest fires in the Pacific northwest were reported Wednesday as the worst in many years, but as gradually improving. In British Columbia they have taken a toll of five lives in the last 24 hours and two men had apparently gone insane by incessant toll in attempting to save their homes from destruction.

Four were killed while fighting a blaze near Revelstoke, 35 miles from Vancouver while another lost his life in a blaze on Vancouver Island.

J. Cox and W. Scovery were found pouring gasoline on the embers of a burned house and shouting, "let's have a big fire." Both had been fighting fire which burned over their homesteads near Newton Surrey for 36 hours and were seriously burned. They were removed to a hospital.

District Forester St. Clair, of Vancouver, said last night that "never in my seven years in British Columbia have I seen the fires as bad as they are at present. Some have grown to such proportions that we can protect only the more valuable watersheds and valuable timber. We are hoping for rain."

YEGGS ROB SAFE AT EAU CLAIRE

Escape Amid Fusillade of Shots With $170 of Winona Oil Company

Eau Claire—Two yeggs who rifled the safe of the Winona Oil Company here of $170 early Wednesday morning escaped in a big car amid a fusillade of shots when policemen Erickson came upon them just after they had succeeded in pouncing the safe door open with a maul and extracted the money. No further trace of the robbers has been found.

The pair had first broken into a blacksmith shop where they secured the maul and at the plant of the Eau Claire Concrete Co. they had secured a wrecking bar. Armed with these they went to the oil station, hauled the 600 pound safe across the street and down the river bank, and there with maul and bar opened the safe door. Policeman Erickson heard the sound of the maul and in the direction of the sound in time to see the pair jump into a waiting automobile and drive away. He fired several shots at the fleeing car but evidently without effect.

CRIMINAL RISES FROM UN-PRIVILEGED CHILD

By Associated Press
Duluth, Minn.—Eighty per cent of the criminals came from the 500,000 underprivileged children, and one per cent of American children are underprivileged because the wage earners are miserably paid, Rodney H. Brandon of Massachusetts, told the National Criminal Congress here Wednesday. The convention which opened Monday, will close Thursday.

"Underprivileged children of today will mean a vicious generation of tomorrow affecting all of us by making the whole level of life lower with the eventual increase in taxation to care commercial institutions," Mr. Brandon said. "The real cause of underprivileged children is the fact that the child is young. Ten per cent of the child producing men of America are taken away from those children before the natural period of death."

INSANE MAN COMMITTED TO ASYLUM IN HURRY

Marinette—County Judge A. E. Davis was routed out of bed Tuesday night to convene a special court in the county jail here where a surgeon had just completed taking several stitches in a self-inflicted wound on the throat of Charles Hanson. Hanson attempted suicide a few moments before. The court found him insane and he was taken to Oshkosh on the first southbound train, establishing a record in commitment to an asylum.

WORKERS ASK TERMS IN HARD AND SOFT COAL

Redress of Alleged Wrongs in Jacksonville Agreement
Is Peace Price

Atlantic City, N. J.—The United Mine Workers of America expect any government intervention aiming to avert or shorten a hard coal suspension Sept. 1, to consider their grievances in the soft coal industry as well, it is learned on reliable authority.

Redress of alleged wrongs growing out of what the miners say is wholesale wage cutting and repudiation of the Jacksonville agreement in bituminous coal territory has become virtually the union's price of peace in the anthracite fields, according to this information.

Both President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers and Van A. Bittner, his chief organizer in West Virginia, have warned of a national shutdown of coal mines if the alleged repudiations of the Jacksonville agreement are not rectified. Large bituminous coal operators contend that the Jacksonville agreement is impracticable because West Virginia non-union miners paying a lower scale can under-sell them.

The union replies the operators know that the only factor affecting production is the amount of "foot" the miners will take. This is a fixed figure, it says, and would not be increased by a wage cut. Such a cut, it was said, would mean merely reduced income for the miners.

BELGIUM'S OFFER TO FUND DEBT IS REFUSED

Washington, D. C.—With the first proposal of Belgium found unacceptable to the U. S. the commission representing the two countries were determined Wednesday to press forward their efforts to reach a basis upon which the Belgian war debt may be funded.

The proposition made Tuesday by the visitors and rejected by the Americans forms the starting point from which the discussion of terms will proceed. Some members of the American commission expressed the opinion that the negotiations might be concluded this week.

Officials said it was not to be expected that the first offer of settlement would be agreed to.

With Belgium coming forward promptly with an offer of settlement, the negotiations moved much faster than the Americans had expected. At the conclusion of the two joint sessions yesterday an air of optimism prevailed.

The terms which the visitors presented were not disclosed.

AMMUNITION DEPOT IS RUINED IN EXPLOSION

Norfolk, Va.—An explosion caused by lightning that struck either a load of shell or a pile of hand grenades, set fire to a big ammunition storage warehouse at the Big Point ammunition depot at Hampton Roads, and practically destroyed the structure.

Portsmouth firemen responded with a fire boat. They said so far as they knew nobody was hurt.

The main magazine was more than a mile away from the blaze. The explosion was heard and felt here and the fire was visible for miles.

County G. O. P. Pledges Support To Coolidge

Although delegates chosen by the county Republican convention Tuesday night were not instructed as to their voting in endorsing a candidate for United States senator at the state convention at Oshkosh Thursday, they were pledged to Republican principles as proclaimed by President Coolidge.

The following resolutions were adopted:

THE PLATFORM
Resolved, that we pledge ourselves and the delegates elected at this convention to support the principles of the Republican party as they have been proclaimed by President Coolidge.

That we place ourselves absolutely and irrevocably on record as being opposed to the nomination of any candidate for the United States senate selected through gang politics in the back rooms of the state capitol at Madison.

That we enter upon this political fight determined to see it through until election day in an effort to send a man to the United States senate from Wisconsin that will truly represent the principles of the Republican party as against one who may attempt to squander under such a disguise for the sole purpose of getting votes.

That we wholeheartedly endorse the actions in congress of our United States senator, Irving L. Lenroot.

That we pledge our support to the candidate nominated for the United States senate at the Oshkosh conference.

AFRAID TONG WAR MAY RESULT FROM NARCOTIC PROBE

Find Clinks That May Show
Illicit Drug Traffic of National Scope

By Associated Press
Chicago—Possible national ramifications and fear of tong warfare as a result of the narcotic investigations which resulted in the arrest of Col. Will Gray Beach, veteran chief agent, and a score of raids in Chinatown, occupy the attention of federal and police officials.

Clinks have been uncovered indicating that illicit drug industry with headquarters here did a national business. Connection also was seen between the inquiry here and recent investigations of a drug syndicate in Cincinnati.

Measures against an outbreak of tong warfare have been taken by the police.

Nine Chinese, alleged proprietors of opium dens, were arraigned Tuesday on charges of selling drugs and released in bonds of $1,500 each. Beach also was released on bail after a day of questioning, during which he was closely guarded to prevent any suicide attempt.

EAU CLAIRE MEN FIND TROUBLE IN SUPERIOR

By Associated Press
Superior—C. E. Brown, janitor of the Eau Claire Opera house, told Judge Luse in federal court here Tuesday afternoon that he and his family had "toured to superior" for selling liquor.

Opera house by actors. His family, encamped at a public camp site here, will drive back in their small car without him. Janitor Brown will complete his tour in company with a deputy marshal.

Arthur Grossman, Eau Claire furrier, Tuesday drew a fine of $250 and costs on a liquor charge while Oscar Johnson was charged with selling liquor 30 days at Milwaukee on similar charges. Both are from Eau Claire. Fred Meyers of the same city was sentenced to five months on a like charge. All pleaded guilty.

People of Government Control, Speaker Says

THE DELEGATES

Mark Catlin, Appleton, delegate-at-large.
A. M. McClone, Deer Creek.
George Cuff, Hortonville.
W. H. Fieweger, Kimberly.
J. S. Wynboom, Little Chute.
F. H. Colburn, Shiocton.
L. H. Waite, Seymour.
R. M. Radach, Kaukauna.
F. W. Grogan, Kaukauna.
J. D. Steele, Appleton.
J. G. Koschush, Appleton.
B. C. Wolter, Appleton.
A. L. Burdick, Black Creek.

The foregoing were selected at the organization meeting of the Outagamie County Republican club in the courthouse, Tuesday evening to represent the county at the state Republican convention in Oshkosh Thursday. Alternates are as follows: Mike Mack, Shiocton, alternate delegate-at-large; William Tate, Deer Creek; W. L. Schrader, Hortonville; C. Ritten, Kimberly; Nic Noesen, Roush; J. Little, Chute; Donald Bratt, Ellington; Herbert Leininger, Seymour; Edward Grebe and Louis J. Faust, Kaukauna; F. J. Harwood, L. J. Robinson, W. H. Zuehlke and Dr. J. O'Connor, Appleton; H. A. Hoops, Black Creek.

STEELE IS PRESIDENT

Joseph D. Steele, Appleton, was elected president of the new political organization, with Mayor Charles E. Raught, Kaukauna, and L. H. Waite, Seymour, as vice presidents, L. J. Robinson, Appleton, as secretary and Attorney Homer Beeson, Appleton, as treasurer.

Memories of the days of the old county political conventions were recalled at the meeting which brought together at least 200 persons from all parts of the county. Besides electing officers and delegates, the new organization adopted a constitution and passed several important resolutions outlining the principles of the meeting. The delegates were not instructed for whom to cast their votes in endorsing a candidate for United States senator at the Oshkosh convention, but the "platform" adopted pledged the delegates to support the Coolidge principles and a candidate who is sympathetic with those principles.

PERRY GIVES TALK

Assemblyman Charles Perry, Wausau, delivered the principal address in which he denounced the primary election and pleaded for a return to representative government as against "boss rule" administered from the executive chambers at Madison.

Attorney Mark Catlin, former Republican "whip" in the state assembly, acted as temporary chairman and delivered the "keynote" speech of the convention. The meeting was for the purpose of endorsing a candidate for United States senator at the Oshkosh conference. The delegates were not instructed for whom to cast their votes in endorsing a candidate for United States senator at the Oshkosh conference, but the "platform" adopted pledged the delegates to support the Coolidge principles and a candidate who is sympathetic with those principles.

The foregoing statement was further amplified by Mr. Catlin in his opening address. He pointed out the value of the convention system and

WHITE COMPANY MOVES HERE TO START PAVING

Richmond-st Project Is Delayed by Rains—Take Earth from Cherry-st

White Construction company of Milwaukee which has the contracts for the bituminous asphalt paving projects in this city, are moving their equipment here from Green Bay where they completed a project. Material is being shipped in preparatory to beginning work here at once.

The first job probably will be on S. Meade-st which is to be paved between E. College-ave and E. South-st. The crux of this project will be the E. John-st. intersection. Paving of this corner will shut off all approach to the bridge. It is possible that the work will center from this point so as not to inconvenience traffic there longer than is necessary.

The concrete paving job on N. Richmond-st was delayed somewhat last week by frequent rains. Had it not been for the wet period, Simpson and Parker would have finished by now. Pouring of concrete has not progressed as far as W. Atlantic-st. On Monday the contractors laid 600 feet of pavement.

Koepke brothers of Appleton, have finished their paving job on N. State-st from W. College-ave up to one-half of the properties of the Fountain Lumber company and the Jacquot Cheese company.

S. Cherry-st is being prepared for paving by Simpson and Parker. About three feet of dirt is being taken away from each terrace for the widening of the street and laying of curbs and gutters. The surplus dirt is being hauled away to River-rd which is being widened on the river bank south of Pierce park. The automobile trucks are damaging some of the cinder streets, particularly W. Third-st, but this is impossible to be avoided, according to city officials. Some of the property owners have objected to mutilating of trees by the steam shovel.

660 MEMBERS ADDED TO A. A. L. IN MONTH

A total of 660 new members were admitted into the Aid Association for Lutherans during the month of July. It appeared from the monthly report of Secretary Albert Voelck to the meeting of the board of trustees Tuesday.

Insurance totaling $871,000 was written for the new members entering the association. This makes a gain of 4,232 members for the first seven months in 1925 and a total of $5,098,000 in new insurance. The association last month experienced losses of $19,500 by 19 deaths.

Mr. and Mrs. Gust Eggert of Harvard, Ill., are visiting with relatives in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wissman and Mrs. W. F. Marsh motored to Sheboygan and Elkhart, Lake Sunday. Mrs. Marsh is a sister of Mrs. Wissman, and has been visiting at the Wissman home this summer. Her home is in Syracuse, N. Y.

WANT CHILDREN TO BE QUIET AT BAND CONCERT

A special program is to be presented by the Kimberly band at 7:30 Thursday evening at Kimberly park. Anthony Van Himbergen is director. Officials of the band have requested that the children be more quiet while numbers are being played, because it is extremely annoying to members of the band as well as to those who wish to listen to the music. Police officers will be at the park to see that the children are kept quiet.

POLICE CATCH RUNAWAY YOUTH

Burlington Boy Fails to Convince Chief Prim He Is from the South

It is difficult to pose as a southerner before Chief George T. Prim, who happens to be from the south himself. This was brought home to a young vagrant applying for lodging at the police station Tuesday night. He proved to be a Wisconsin runaway boy.

The boy gave his name as Adolph Huse and his age as 17, adding that his home was in Birmingham, Ala., and that his father and mother both are dead. The chief's suspicions were aroused when the boy spoke without the accent common to persons coming from that distance south.

When he asked the boy to name some business places in Birmingham, the latter said he could not remember since he left town at the age of seven years and had been "bumming around" since. Further grilling caused the boy to admit that his home town is Burlington, Wis., and that he had run away from home about three weeks ago.

Another boy from the same town had gone with Huse but he became homesick and returned after a few days. The boy's father who operates a cigar factory in Burlington was notified by the police to take the boy home.

NEW SECRETARY FOR BOYS TAKES OVER JOB HERE

John W. Pugh, Recently Appointed Boys Secretary, Arrives in City

John W. Pugh, newly-appointed boys' work secretary of Appleton, Y. M. C. A., arrived in the city Tuesday evening to begin his work at the local building. Mr. Pugh, who has been building Low work secretary at the Janesville association for the last two years, replaces H. A. Dittmore, who resigned last spring to accept a position in Los Angeles. Since that time the work of the boys' division has been carried on by Len Hendrickson, Duluth, and Lawrence Locklin, Appleton, acting boys' work secretaries.

The new secretary has carried on a large boys' work at Janesville where he also had charge of club work in the churches of the city. His experience and training in this department fits him admirably for the work here where he will have more extensive equipment and a larger field in which to work according to local association leaders.

He has had experience not only with a building program but also with a community program for boys and under his direction it is planned to carry on a much larger boys' program in the local building and community. The latter step will be taken through boys' club work in the churches.

Local boys' work is quiet at present, according to Mr. Pugh, but plenty of work is being planned for this winter.

FOUR MORE BUBBLERS IN BUSINESS SECTION

Four street bubblers are being installed in the business district by the water department upon the order of the fire and water committee of the council. The bubblers are of white porcelain and are intended only for summer use. They will be shut off about October.

They are located at the following intersections: Morrison-st and E. College-ave; Superior-st and W. College-ave; Appleton-st and E. College-ave; State-st and W. College-ave. This gives the city six downtown bubblers, as the water department on its own accord maintains all-year bubblers at Oneida-st and College-ave and at Walnut-st and W. College-ave.

ARREST TWO MEN FOR VIOLATING LIQUOR LAWS

Warrants were issued Wednesday morning by John A. Lonsdorf, district attorney, for the arrest of W. H. Miller and Hubert Redman, both of Bear Creek, on the charge of violating the state liquor laws. State prohibition agents raided the property of the Bear Creek men Tuesday with the result that both men will face trial in municipal court.

Two jugs of alleged moonshine were found in Miller's barn and a pitcher of the liquor was found behind a shed on the Redman property. It is alleged the warrants were to be served by Sheriff P. G. Schwartz Wednesday afternoon.

GOSTAS-CASE IS ADJOURNED AGAIN

Williams' Physician Advises Delay to Learn Extent of Injury

Another adjournment was taken Tuesday afternoon in municipal court in the case of Nick Gostas, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon on his partner in the American Good Food restaurant, Charles Williams, in a quarrel on Tuesday evening, July 22. Attorneys for Williams asked for the adjournment at the advice of his physician.

Williams still is suffering severe pains as the result of a fractured skull and it is said that the adjournment will be taken to determine more fully the extent of the injury. The date of the trial was set for Thursday, Aug. 20.

summer use. They will be shut off about October.

They are located at the following intersections: Morrison-st and E. College-ave; Superior-st and W. College-ave; Appleton-st and E. College-ave; State-st and W. College-ave. This gives the city six downtown bubblers, as the water department on its own accord maintains all-year bubblers at Oneida-st and College-ave and at Walnut-st and W. College-ave.

BURGLARS USE STOLEN CAR IN SALOON ROBBERY

Police Believe Ring of Car Thieves Stole Rickenbacker Here

The Rickenbacker car of Alfred Bauer brought back Tuesday by Chief George T. Prim from Wausau where thieves had abandoned it is in a very unsatisfactory condition. The engine in the car is not working properly and the speedometer is broken. Up to the time the car was abandoned in Wausau it had made 2,800 miles since it was stolen from Mr. Bauer's garage July 25.

That the car was stolen by automobile thieves ring appears from the circumstances that a Chrysler car was stolen in Wausau at the time the Appleton car was left there and that two other cars were stolen at Merrill about the same time. It is believed that when the Rickenbacker was partly wrecked by running into a ditch at Wausau, the same thieves left in the stolen Chrysler.

It also is apparent that the Rickenbacker car was used in connection with a burglary that was committed in a Wausau saloon. The establishment was robbed of about $60. When the car was found it contained a wrapper full of pennies labeled Marathon County Bank. The saloonkeeper did business with that bank and had pennies with that kind of wrapper in his cash register.

Miss Babette Marshall returned Tuesday from a camping trip to the Chain o' Lakes at Waupaca.

WALSH TEES OFF IN PRO- AMATEUR GOLF TOURNAMENT

Frank Walsh, professional at the Buttes des Morts Country club, Tom Ross, Oshkosh pro, and Charley G. McCann of Green Bay are included in the list of those who teed off at 1 o'clock Wednesday for play in the annual professional-amateur golf tournament, the first event of the Wisconsin open, at the Oaukee Country club course, Milwaukee.

Walsh was without a partner early Wednesday, but pairings for those who had entered without partners was to have been completed by noon. The pro-amateur event was won last year by Jack Blakeslee of Kenosha, who also won the open championship, and Dick Cavanaugh, also of Kenosha.

On Vacation
Miss Mabel Sibley, secretary to Hugh G. Corbett of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, is on her annual vacation. She left with Mr. and Mrs. John Brown and family on an automobile trip to northern Wisconsin.

CONSTRUCT WIRE FENCE AROUND SCHOOL GROUND

Work was started Wednesday morning on erection 446 feet of cyclone fence on the west, north, and part of the south sides of the Lincoln school grounds for the purpose of preventing balls from being thrown or batted into the street and thus safeguarding the lives of children who run out into the heavy traffic of N. Appleton-st. after these balls. One or two children have been struck by cars by dashing out in the road for balls, and others have had very narrow escapes. It was decided to fence in the Lincoln school playgrounds at the annual meeting of the second district last month. The fence is ten feet high.

Red Arrow Club Meets
The Red Arrow club will have a business meeting at 7 o'clock Thursday evening at Galpin's cottage at Brighton beach. Routine business will be discussed.

765 ENROLLED IN HIGH SCHOOL FOR COMING TERM

Program of Eight Class Periods Daily Worked Out for Senior School

Public schools in Appleton will open Sept. 8, the day following Labor day. As Labor day does not come till Sept. 7 this year, the schools will open a few days later than they have for quite a number of years.

The program of the senior high school has been worked out so that there will be eight class periods a day. For the last few years there have been ten periods a day in the high school program due to the congested conditions at the building, but this difficulty will be eliminated now that the junior high schools will be opened. The morning session will start at 8 o'clock and will close at 12 o'clock, while the afternoon session begins at 1:15 and closes at 3:30. All students will begin classes at the same time, and all will get out of school at the same time. Formerly it was necessary to work a noon shift in classes because of crowded conditions. Some students left school for lunch at 11:20 in the morning, while others left at 12:15.

Enrollment for the coming school year has reached 765, according to figures supplied at the high school office. This is 350 less than the highest enrollment of last year, due to the opening of the junior high schools. There are 734 seats in the assembly room so that every student will be provided with a seat during assembly periods.

There will be 36 on the senior high school staff this year, including faculty members and office workers. This is a decrease of 12 from the staff of last year which numbered 48. There will be only three new teachers at the senior high school this year. These are Laura Livermore of Minneapolis who will be in the commercial department, Dora Kelley of Lake Geneva, who will teach in the English department, and John McAuliffe of Madison, S. D., new coach and boys physical director.

MILK MEN MUST USE OWN BOTTLES

Racine Dairymen Bring Case to Court; Plan to Make an Appeal

Madison—Milk dealers using the bottles of other milk companies will be prosecuted unless the courts rule finally that such use of milk bottles is not a violation of the misbranding law, J. Q. Emery, state dairy and food commissioner, said Tuesday. Meanwhile, he said he was confident that the law was constitutional.

Dairymen at Racine, who were found guilty in court there recently of violating the law, have served notice that they will carry the case higher.

Before the passage of the law prohibiting misbranding of food products Mr. Emery said, contradictory statements appeared on the package and the consumer "had to take his choice." This situation has been eliminated under the law, the commission said. If milk dealers were permitted to use bottles bearing the names of other dealers, but having caps bearing the name of the dealer who filled the bottle, it would be a return of the contradictory statements, he declared.

The Racine dairymen contend that any wording blown into the bottle is not material, but a cap designating the contents and the dairy that filled the bottle is sufficient. The destruction of bottles from firms that have gone out of business and the exchange of bottles between the different dairies would be a hardship financially, they declared.

NEENAH GIRL ENTERS OXFORD UNIVERSITY

Miss Eleanor Evans Wing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Wing of Neenah will sail from New York Sept. 5 on the "Homeric" for England where she will attend Oxford university.

Miss Wing is well known among social circles in the vicinity and was graduated from Appleton High school in 1913. She spent a year at Ferry hall at Lake Forest and one year at Holton Arms at Washington. She also attended Vassar college at New York for a year and a half. Miss Wing was society editor and reporter for the Appleton Post-Crescent.

HOTELS DISAGREE ON TOURIST TRAFFIC HERE

Conflicting reports are being made by leading Appleton hotels about the tourist traffic through Appleton this summer. One of these hotels reports that tourist business has been exceptionally good this year, far better than it was last year because of the cold and rainy weather which prevailed last summer. It is reported that that hotel that the tourist season now is at its height, and that the hotel is well filled with tourist parties every night.

At another hotel it was reported that tourist traffic is fairly good now, and that business of this nature is picking up, but that the tourist trade is not nearly as large as it has been in former years. As still another Appleton hotel the tourist business is reported to be very slight this year, much more so than it has been for a number of years.

ONLY TWO CASES OF CONTAGION IN CITY

Appleton is enjoying the period of good health that usually attends the summer months. Contagion in the city is reported at low ebb. Practically the only evidence of contagion here are about two cases of scarlet fever, according to Theodore Sanders, deputy health commissioner.

WILL PLAN STATE FOREST PROGRAM

Expect to Call Conference of Wisconsin Lumbermen Sometime This Fall

Madison.—The next step in Wisconsin's forestry program may be a conference of lumbermen and other interested persons this fall, Elmer S. Hall, state conservation commissioner, said Tuesday.

Commissioner Hall said that Governor Blaine had not indicated what would be the next procedure toward inaugurating a reforestation program, but that a conference to be called by the governor was possible. The commissioner expressed an opinion that such a conference probably would be able to develop sufficient information for the guidance of the legislature at its next session. The administration plan for an interim forestry committee was defeated in the last legislature and the governor vetoed another proposal because its scope was too wide.

Governor Blaine has been gathering information on conservation problems during his vacation trip in the northern part of the state, Mr. Hall said, and his plans will not be available until he returns to Madison. The commissioner said he did not think a special session of the legislature to consider conservation question was likely at this time.

Establishment of a national forest reserve, such as was authorized by the recent legislature, would not entirely solve the problem of reforestation, Mr. Hall said. Also he asserted it would remove land from the tax rolls of the counties.

FOURTEEN CITIES FINISH BETTER CITIES REPORT

Fourteen cities competing in the Better Cities contest have finished their surveys and made their final report to the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work, according to information received at the office of the chamber of commerce here. The cities besides Appleton are Oshkosh, Chippewa Falls, Eau Claire, Fond du Lac, Janesville, Kenosha, Ladysmith, Ashland, Sheboygan, Sparta, Waukesha, Waupun and Wausau.

Reports have been submitted to the judges and the award for the best city in which to live and rear a family will be announced at the convention to the conference of social work which will take place in Stevens Point in October. A prize of $1,000 will be given to the best city with a population over 10,000 and $500 prize will be given to the best city with a population under 10,000.

CLERK BEGINS WORK ON TAX ROLL FOR 1925

Now that the city board of equalization has completed a two weeks' session of hearing complaints on assessments, the city clerk's department is able to start work on the assessment rolls. A check-up will be made of all properties assessed and a compiled report will be transmitted by E. L. Williams, city clerk, to the state tax commission at Madison. The 1925 tax rolls have not as yet been received from the printer.

FAMILY GIVEN BULK OF LATE JUDGE'S ESTATE

Spencer Will Dispose of Property Valued at More Than $20,000

An estate of about $20,000 is distributed by the will of the late Judge A. M. Spencer which was probated before Judge Fred V. Heinemann Tuesday morning in County court. The estate consists of $4,500 in cash, personal property and insurance policies totaling $8,075, and real estate. The real estate personal property and insurance policies were divided among Lorraine Stroud of Nashville, Tenn., a daughter, and Harold S. Spencer of New York City, a son. Requests of money went to close friends of the late judge and his adopted daughter, Helga Spencer.

Ella Reinhardt, Almond, Wis., daughter of Edward Reinhardt, was given $1,000. A sum of $1,500 was bequeathed to the First Trust Co. of Appleton, to be held in trust for Margaret Lietz, $25 of which is to be given to her on the first of each month. In case of her death the remainder is to be divided among Lorraine Stroud and Harold Spencer. The First Trust Co. also received $1,500 to be held in trust for the late judge's adopted daughter, Helga, $25 of which is to be given to her on the first of each month.

first of each month. The care of the girl is given to Lorraine Stroud or her own mother or grandmother. In the latter case the grandmother or mother is to receive the monthly money from the trust fund. A sum of $500 and the late judge's automobile were bequeathed to Dell Spencer of Sheboygan, a brother.

In the event of the death of any beneficiary, their legacy is to go back into the remainder of the estate. The remainder of the estate is to be divided equally between the son and daughter. This includes a number of government bonds, a Modern Woodman of America life insurance policy for $3,000 payable to Lorraine Stroud, a Bankers' Life policy for $4,000 payable to Harold Spencer, a piece of property known as the Lake Property worth from $2,500 to $3,000, 325 acres of land in the town of Maine worth $1,000 and $75 due on a piece of property in the Fourth ward.

Other bequests were $1,500 worth of jewelry at the State Bank to Lorraine Stroud, clothing to Dell Spencer of Sheboygan, a brother, and Don Spencer of Duluth, a nephew, and a shotgun to A. H. Krugmeier.

HELPING THE SMALL COLLEGE

A bequest of $2,100,000 has been made to DePauw University by a wealthy Chicagoan, Edward Rector. His will provides that all of his estate excepting a few small bequests and an annuity to his widow shall go to the college. A half a million dollars is to be spent for two dormitories, one for men and one for women. The remaining $1,600,000 is to be added to the scholarship fund with a request that a sufficient number of scholarships be provided from the income so that each high school in Indiana may be offered a scholarship each year.

The will of Mr. Rector has attracted considerable attention because it leaves a large estate to a comparatively small university. Most of the bequests that run into the millions have gone to the great colleges and universities. We think the good fortune of the DePauw-university sets a wholesome precedent, which ought to be carefully considered by men of wealth in the final disposition of their fortunes.

It would be unfortunate if our opportunities for higher education in this country were concentrated at a few points and in a few institutions. As a matter of fact, there is much that is advantageous to the scholar in the smaller colleges, including both his environment and his educational opportunities. We need to support these institutions with the same loyalty that we support those that are larger and more distinguished. The latter are influential socially and politically and their future is assured. Most of them are so heavily endowed that nothing could destroy their position or prosperity.

The smaller colleges and universities occupy a real place in a democratic educational system and perhaps are of more value in the aggregate in benefits they bestow on the public at large in an educational sense than are great universities. It is to be hoped that more of them in the future will be remembered as DePauw has been remembered.

TARIFF HELPS AT LAST

On the surface there would appear to be inconsistency in the hardening of the wheat market, accompanied by recent advances in price, and the forecast of unusually large crops abroad. Up to this time the price of American wheat has always been determined in the Liverpool, or the world, market. If there was a world shortage the price would go up and if there was over-production it would go down. These conditions were instantly reflected in the American market.

If this year the order is to be reversed and American wheat prices are to go up while those at Liverpool go down, it will be because for the first time in our history we became an importer of wheat. The indications are that we will have a substantial shortage in our own crop. While the amount cannot be definitely fixed it is not unlikely that the yield will be insufficient for our own requirements. In that event we shall have to import enough wheat on which duty will be paid, thereby raising the price above that of Liverpool. If this occurs it will also be the first time in which the tariff has been of any real benefit to the American grower.

U. S. MEANS BUSINESS

Apparently the government means business in its raid on the Fish Fans' club at Chicago. On its application a federal judge of that city has issued a restraining order, closing the club to its officers and members. The government has asked for a permanent injunction closing it up for one year and this application will be heard. The plea for a permanent injunction alleges that the place is a public nuisance and should be pad-locked.

If the government goes through with this proceeding and is successful, as it should be, it will be a wholesale tonic in the attempt to enforce prohibition. One of the results of prohibition which has brought the law into disrepute is the fact that up to this time it has been used as a cloak of protection to the wealthy and influential, who have been permitted to stock up with liquor for private use to their appetite's content, and to keep drinks in their private clubs with as much immunity as they did in the old days.

The nearest approach to this special exemption has been the winking of the enforcement officers at the dispensing of intoxicating drinks by saloons. There is no essential difference between violation of the Volstead act by a saloon and a private club. There is no difference between violating the law by the rich and the poor. It should be enforced against all alike. The Chicago Fish Fans' club case is a real test of democratic and honest enforcement of prohibition.

DENEEN TRIES A RUSE

Senator Deneen of Illinois has been out to visit President Coolidge at Swampscott. He did not fail to take advantage of the opportunity to spread Chicago's deft propaganda to legalize his lake water steal. From the viewpoint of the middle and far west, no more important benefit can be conferred by the congress which meets next December than provision for the lakes-to-the-gulf waterway and the St. Lawrence seaway, says the senator. Note the cleverness of this appeal. It links an insignificant and costly project up with one of major importance and seeks to put them on the same plane. He even put the gulf waterway ahead of the St. Lawrence seaway. Chicago's plan is to link them up together and make them inseparable. It is to convince the country that the middle west wants both projects authorized. Mr. Deneen will introduce a bill in congress providing for federal co-operation with the state of Illinois in the construction and maintenance of the lakes-gulf waterway.

It is naively explained in the inspired report of the senator's statement published in Chicago that the question "whether the amount of diversion from Lake Michigan permitted by the war department for Chicago drainage purposes will be sufficient for waterway navigation purposes will have to be dealt with eventually by congress." Here is the nigger in the woodpile. Chicago knows there is no real demand at this time for the lakes-gulf waterway. Where one favors this project there are a hundred who favor the St. Lawrence seaway. Where one ton of freight would be carried on the lakes-gulf waterway, a thousand tons would be carried on the other. What Chicago is after is permission to take what water it wishes for drainage and power purposes. It has finally discovered that it cannot directly obtain the right to do this from the federal government. Therefore, in order to save itself it is adopting the subterfuge of making a great commotion for the lakes-gulf waterway, which if approved by congress would satisfy its major purposes of diversion.

The fact that this waterway would be little used and of comparatively small value to the country is of no concern. The insincerity of the Chicago movement is further reflected in the statement attributed to Senator Deneen that "no less important (than the lakes-gulf waterway) is the St. Lawrence seaway, which will enable the grain growers of the West to ship directly to Europe from the lake ports." One would gather from this that the really major enterprise was the lakes-gulf affair, whereas it is merely a jerkwater project in comparison with the St. Lawrence seaway.

The lake states and the central west will have to be on their guard against this clever and insidious propaganda Chicago has undertaken to avoid the orders of the war department to reduce and eventually stop its theft of lake water.

KIDS WHO CATCH CRI

Certain children seem unduly susceptible to the common respiratory infections (cri) and almost constantly have coryza, croup, sore throat, sinusitis, ear aches, bronchitis, measles, diphtheria, scarlet fever, tonsillitis and the like. To ascribe this peculiar susceptibility to respiratory infection to "weakness," "delicacy," "the weather," "the climate," "taking cold so easily," is too common. Even among doctors of a sort, and it is about as senseless as the familiar childhood argument, "because." Lay people are perhaps not so much to blame for accepting these meaningless explanations for the vulnerability of the children, since not a few of the old timers in medical practice and even public health authorities still acquiesce in such popular theories. However, no one has been able to induce any scientific evidence to support these quaint notions. The idea that the weather, climate, or exposure to cold elements may have anything to do with susceptibility to cri is one which you must take on faith alone; it was so "pronounced" by the ponderous but benighted old timers long before the days of scientific pathology, back in the era when "night air" was deemed unfit to breathe and red flannel was employed to frighten off the demons of disease.

But if these quaint fancies do not explain the peculiar tendency, what does account for it? Is it an inherent constitutional deficiency, a fault in the physical makeup, a flaw in the functional integrity, a lack of something in the child's system? Yes, we are constrained to assume it must be something of this nature. I say "we," meaning the medical profession and particularly the modern scientific profession; I do not use the affected and impersonal editorial "we," but merely strive to interpret here the best scientific medical views of the day.

It seems to me that there is some scientific evidence to support this present belief. The belief is perhaps not as yet so definitely crystallized, but I venture to suggest that the peculiar susceptibility of certain children to cri is due to a vitamin deficiency—though we do not yet know precisely what a vitamin is. We do know that vitamins, unidentified factors present in certain foods, are essential for normal health, growth and functional integrity, in animals and in man. I think the scientific evidence now in hand warrants the belief that this vitamin is the one which is so richly present in plain cod liver oil (not any manufactured emulsion, tablet, or other derivative of cod liver oil) and in a smaller quantity in dairy butter, pure raw milk, the yolk of fresh eggs, green cabbage, lettuce, spinach and other green or leafy vegetables.

The administration of genuine (undiluted) cod liver oil has been a long established principle in the treatment of certain low grade or long drawn out (chronic) respiratory infections such as pulmonary tuberculosis and chronic bronchitis. It now seems advisable to make use of this richest source of the necessary vitamin in the treatment of the peculiar susceptibility to cri in children, and perhaps in some instances in adults. But the reader should not assume that cod liver oil is a good remedy for acute respiratory infections. I am suggesting it only for the prophylactic purpose described. Sufficient dosage for that purpose, for the average child, would be from one-half to one teaspoonful daily.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

No Diet List Will Fit Her.

Kindly send me a proper diet list for a high blood pressure, or recommend for me a book where I can secure a diet for such cases. (Mrs. C. S. C.)

Answer.—Only quick doctor books and long distance specialists in extracting lucre from credulous victims purport to give such diets. High blood pressure is merely one feature of various disease conditions, and only the physician familiar with your condition and your requirements can advise you intelligently about your diet. No doubt you would smile at the suggestion that some cut and dried concoction or nostrum is proper medicine for anybody with high blood pressure, but it is just as silly to imagine that some cut and dried diet is good for "high blood pressure." You asked me to give a candid answer to your questions. Candidly I think the great Wisenheimer family has been badly taken in by the thousand and one short cut drugless healers who cater to that vast portion of the population. Our old time quacks were mere pikers compared with these slick business sharks of the fad era.

LOOKING BACKWARD

25 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, Aug. 15, 1900.

Father Ignatious, who had been guardian at St. Joseph church for the last two years, was transferred to Calvary near Fond du Lac. His successor was Father Laurentius, formerly of Calvary.

T. A. Willy received the Republican nomination for senator by acclamation at the county convention held at Hortonville yesterday. Peter Tubbs of Seymour was elected chairman of the convention and E. G. Jones secretary.

Officer W. J. Baker of the police force bought the Dr. M. X. Buck residence yesterday at the corner of Washington and Union-sts.

Charles Fose was visiting friends in Manitowoc for the week.

Mrs. Lucy Pardee and granddaughter Ida May Hopkins left that evening for a month's trip to Eau Claire and LaPorte, N. D.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Pierce and Mrs. Barrett and daughter Grace left today on a trip by boat to Buffalo, Niagara Falls and New York city.

Mrs. Myrtle Vosbeck, wife of Frank Vosbeck, formerly at Appleton, died at a hospital in Minneapolis.

Sheriff Louis Wurl went to New London today to arrest a woman who was accused of poisoning her husband.

10 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, Aug. 11, 1915.

Improvements and extension work amounting to $150,000 was begun this morning at the Fox River Paper Co. plant. A new settling basin was to be built, the filter plant enlarged and generators and a paper machine installed.

District Attorney Mark Catlin and family returned last night from an automobile trip to Ashland where they spent two weeks on a farm owned by Mr. Catlin's father.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Verwey, a resident of this city for more than half a century, died this morning at her home on N. Division-st.

Dorothy Kubitz entertained a number of her little friends at her home on Franklin-st. yesterday afternoon in honor of her third birthday anniversary.

Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Rector left yesterday by automobile for a few days trip to Chain o' Lakes, Waukegan.

A. G. Koch left this morning on a business trip to Quinton, Okla.

President Woodrow Wilson was uneasy over the diplomatic situation in Mexico following a statement received from President Carranza which was virtually an ultimatum saying "hands off."

21 NATIONS TO TAKE PART IN ROAD CONGRESS

Governments Will Discuss Highway Improvements in North and South America

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington, D. C.—On Oct. 3 there will be opened at Buenos Aires a ten-day session of the Pan-American road congress which has been called by the Argentine government, and in which 21 American republics will participate, to promote highway construction throughout the new world and to afford an opportunity for leaders in the movement in each country to discuss their problems.

It will mark the beginning of an era of road building in Central and South America that is regarded as of the greatest importance not only to those countries but also to the United States, for this country is directly affected by the prosperity and progress of her neighbors on the south and will have a large share in the business developed by a good roads movement on so large a scale. The United States will be represented at Buenos Aires by an official delegation appointed by President Coolidge in pursuance of a resolution adopted by Congress, and by a large unofficial body composed of representatives of banking interests, the automotive industry, all its branches, and the manufacturers of road building machinery.

OFFICIAL DELEGATES

The official delegation will be headed by H. H. Rice, of Detroit, a director of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce and a former employer-member of the national war labor board. The other members are Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the bureau of public roads of the department of agriculture; Dr. G. A. Sherwell, secretary-general of the Inter-American high commission; Frank Page, chairman of the North Carolina state highway commission; Charles M. Babcock, Minnesota commissioner of highways; Frederick L. Bishop, dean of the School of Engineering, University of Pittsburgh; and William E. Hull, member of congress from Illinois.

The United States delegates and unofficial visitors will sail from New York on the Steamer Santa Ana Sept. 3 and will proceed to the Argentine capital by way of the Panama canal and the west coast of South America, touring Brazil on the return journey. Sixty-eight days have been scheduled for the trip.

DIPLOMATIC MISSION

Stops will be made at Cristobal and Balboa, and an official call on the government of Panama at Panama City; at Salaverry and Callao, Peru, the latter permitting of a motor trip to Lima, the Peruvian capital, and at four or five ports in Chile before arriving at Valparaiso, where a stop over of six days has been planned for visits to Santiago and other Chilean cities. The trip from Valparaiso to Buenos Aires will be made via the famous railroad route over the Andes Mountains. Returning the party will stop first in Santos, Brazil, and next visit Sao Paulo, the second largest city and the chief coffee center of that country, and then Rio de Janeiro, the picture city of the western world.

The tour is in reality an unofficial diplomatic mission. Last year the Latin American countries sent a large highway commission to the United States to study road building here. It was welcomed in Washington by President Coolidge, the then Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes, Secretary of Commerce Hoover, and the late

New Orleans has the second largest area of any city in the United States, covering 264 square miles. New York is first, Chicago third, Philadelphia fourth, Seattle fifth and Detroit sixth.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, and later made an extended tour of nine States.

LAVISHLY ENTERTAINED

Everywhere the commission went it was elaborately entertained and every effort was made to impress its members with the feeling of friendliness in which all Central and South American countries are held in the United States. A motion picture called "Highways of Friendship" was made of the tour by the office of motion pictures of the department of agriculture and a large number of prints have been sent for exhibition purposes throughout Latin America.

Now the United States is to return the friendly visit to her southern neighbors and again every effort is to be made to strengthen the entente cordiale between this country and her sister republics. The idea that it is south to put over is that the United States is not only ready but anxious to assist the Pan American good roads movement in every way—through financial backing and with all the helpful experience in connection with highway problems that has been accumulated here in the last quarter of a century.

And again the motion picture is to be an agency in promoting better feeling and better understanding among Americans. F. W. Perkins, director of the office of motion pictures, is to accompany the official party and to make a film that later will be exhibited throughout the United States to give people here a better conception of conditions and business opportunities in the countries on the south.

ROAD TOPICS

Preliminary to the Buenos Aires conference data have been collected in each Central and South American country on every phase of the highway problem—condition of roads, amount paved and the types, construction costs, system and cost of maintenance, sources of revenue, percentage of annual budget for public expenditures appropriated for road work, laws relating to roads, legal procedure in the expropriation of land and appurtenances for roads, functions of the federal, provincial, departmental governments, and statistics and information on highway education.

With all this material in hand the road congress will discuss such questions as the influence of improved highways on social welfare, methods of propaganda, traffic regulation, international licenses for vehicles, high-nomenclature, a permanent interchange of statistical information and legislative enactments, and the construction of a Pan-American highway which will unite the capitals of all the countries that are members of the Pan American union.

The Question Box

It is the desire and privilege of the organization this paper maintains in Washington to give reliable and prompt service to all requests for information. This is its purpose and its aim. It often happens, however, that readers write in for information and fail to give their name and addresses. Such occurrences leave the bureau helpless and, of course, the letters can not be answered. In order to avoid disappointment please make certain that your name and address is signed to every communication sent to the Bureau. Also be sure to enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. Address The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. Will anything make hair grow on a scar? L. B. L.

A. So far as we can ascertain there is no substance that will grow hair on a scar. Where scars are very disfiguring surgeons have by operative measures transplanted hair.

Q. Where are the Irish Hills of Michigan located? H. W.

A. They are in Lenawee-co. on the southern border of the southern peninsula.

Q. In what dimensions is the height of a horse measured? E. F. H.

A. It is measured in hands. A hand is equal to a hand's breadth which for calculations is considered four inches.

Q. How many cables cross the oceans? M. R.

A. According to late figures there are at present 550 submarine cables. Q. How many bonded warehouses are there now? M. B.

A. The number in the United States has been reduced from 9 to 85. Twenty-eight of these contain all but 8,000,000 gallons of the 33,000,000 gallons of liquor, original gauge, in bonded warehouse available for medicinal use.

Q. In a bridge game if a person bids one no trump and the opponents take 12 tricks, do they score 50 points for a little slam? J. W. H.

A. If the declarer fails to make good his bid, his adversaries score 50 points in the honor column for every trick by which he fails. If they take 12 tricks they score 50 for making a little slam.

Q. What is the present area of forest land in the United States? L. E. I.

A. It is approximately 469,500,000 acres, consisting of 135,100,000 acres of virgin forest and 334,400,000 acres of cut-over and burned-over or idle forest land.

Q. How does the wealth of the United States compare for the 10-years period 1912 to 1922? D. I. K.

A. The census figures show that the wealth of the country increased from $186,299,664,000 at the close of 1912 to $320,893,862,000 at the close of 1922, a rise of 72.2 per cent.

Q. When was Sousa's Band organized? C. E. B.

A. While the Marine band was playing in Chicago in 1892, David Blakely said to Sousa, "If you can create this enormous success for the Washington Marine band, why not a Sousa band? I will see that it is financed." The band was organized that season.

Q. What is the largest painting in the world? H. T. B.

A. The Last Judgment, by Michael Angelo in the Sixtine Chapel, Rome, is said to be the largest.

OPPOSE TO G. O. P. PRACTICE

To Editor Post-Crescent: I want to go on record as being positively opposed to the methods employed by the so-called reorganizing committee of the Republican Party in the selecting of the delegates for the Oshkosh Convention from the groups consisting of the City of Appleton and the Town of Grand Chute.

I was led to believe that the Republicans in charge were ready to bury the hatchet, be open minded and ready to give and take, but unfortunately the old guard of Stalwarts insist on your playing in their yard or Mamma won't let them play.

One of their hobbies is to disregard the Primary Election Law of our State and to go back to the old worn out Party caucus system in order that the rusty old steam roller can be brought out and do its work. I went into the meeting called which was held at the Outagamie County Court House last evening with the distinct understanding that the entire County would be given a square deal in the selecting of the fourteen delegates allotted to this County. Every precinct was to have a voice in selecting the delegate to represent the group the various precincts belonged to. The County was divided about as fairly as one could expect and with that understanding I stood ready and did nominate Mr. Mark Catlin, the Chairman of the Republican County Committee, as the delegate at large. I had every reason to believe that every Ward in this City and the Town of Grand Chute would have either a delegate or an alternate elected. I confidently expected and hoped that the Women of our fair city would be rightly and justly recognized, but when the steam roller got into action all promises were disregarded with the result that out of four delegates elected, three were chosen from the First Ward and out of four alternate delegates two were chosen from the First Ward. The delegate at large was the first man elected before the regular nominating began and he was from the First Ward, making a total of SEVEN out of Nine Delegates from the First Ward of this City. In fairness to the Republicans of this City I cannot put my stamp of approval on this action, and if the Oshkosh delegates in convention assembled have no greater regard for fair play than was demonstrated at the selecting of delegates at Appleton last night, they will wreck the ship before it has been fairly launched.

Respectfully submitted,
FRED FELIX WETTINGER

LEGION NAMES WORKERS FOR $1,025 DRIVE
Campaign to Raise City's Quota of Endowment Fund Starts Friday

Kaukauna—Committees and a chairman were appointed to raise Kaukauna's quota of $1,025 in the Legion endowment drive, at a meeting of Legionaires in the clubrooms Tuesday evening. The drive is to start Friday and it is expected that the work will be finished by Saturday night.

H. J. Pettigrew, Appleton, county contact agent, talked at the weekly dinner of the Rotary club Wednesday noon in an effort to enlist the assistance of the Rotarians in the drive.

Because many members of the Legion were attending the Republican meeting at Appleton Tuesday evening, the committee lists were not completed Wednesday morning.

The Legion endowment drive is to provide a fund, the interest of which is to provide for dependant wives and children of the world war veterans. The drive has gone over the top all over the country, according to reports and it is expected that Kaukauna will do the same.

BATHERS DESERT POOL FOR RIVER
Older Boys Prefer Dangers of River to Safety of Municipal Pool

Kaukauna—The lure of the open river water has overcome the cleanliness and convenience of the municipal swimming pool with the result that large numbers of older boys may be seen every day taking a dip in the power canal near the public library. This does not mean that the municipal pool has lost its popularity for it still is patronized. The swimmers seem to derive more of a "kick" out of plunging in the running water.

A springy and not too staunch spring board has been set up at the edge of the canal and is in constant use. The swimmers are always in plain sight of pedestrians walking along the street and invariably the people stop for a few minutes to watch with interest the antics of those in the water.

There is only one thing which may in a short time prove objectionable to the constantly growing practice and that is that a few of the younger water ducks do not exercise proper caution in the selection of their dressing rooms and often the boys can be seen changing their clothes by those who are passing by.

FORMER SHOP FOREMAN DIES IN MINNEAPOLIS

Kaukauna—Thomas Erickson, former resident here, died Sunday night in Minneapolis, Minn., according to a telegram received in this city. The funeral was to have been held Wednesday afternoon in Manitowish with services in charge of Kaukauna Lodge No. 233, Free and Accepted Masons.

Old residents on Tuesday said it is now from twenty-five to thirty years since Mr. Erickson lived here and was general foreman at the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad shop. When he left here he was sent to Baraboo and then to Janesville as general foreman and later he was promoted to master mechanic and sent to Huron, S. D. He had been confined to a hospital in Minneapolis for several months. Although no definite report could be secured, shopmen here were of the opinion that Mr. Erickson was pensioned a few months ago.

Kaukauna won the cup last year.

GARAGE BURNED IN WEYAUWEGA
Fire of Undetermined Origin Destroys Building and Almost Wrecks Car

Weyauwega—Fire destroyed the garage and almost a new Chevrolet touring car at the rear of Samuel Salzman's residence at about 9:30 Saturday morning. The origin of the fire is unknown but it is thought it was the combustion of crossed rags or a short circuit in the wiring of the car.

The fire department responded to the call but the fire was so far under way that none of the garage could be saved. Some of the siding on the back of the house was burned. The Salzman's loss was about $800, part of which is covered by insurance.

Miss Selma Koenig of Albion, Mich. is a guest at the M. E. Lewis home. Miss Janice Stevens is visiting relatives at Marshfield.

William Conway and Arthur Mattison of Marshfield, spent Sunday here with friends. They were accompanied on their way home by Ronald Larkee who will visit in Marshfield and Stratford for a few days.

Dr. F. Russell, sons Roy and Frank and daughters Marian and Ruth of Winnegar joined Mrs. Russell here on Sunday. Mr. Russell returned to Winnegar on Monday.

SHOPS WIN CLOSE GAME FROM THILMANY TEAM

Kaukauna—The railroad shops sifted out a 5 to 4 win over the Thilmany baseball outfit in a Twilight league game Tuesday evening. The probable result of the game hinged upon the umpire's decision in the third frame. Pleschke was at bat for Thilmany and he laid down a bunt. In running to first base he stepped on the ball and was called out. Some time was consumed in argument. Had the decision been reversed Thilmany would have added a run for Klammer, next up, poled the horsehide over the garden wall.

Each team scored twice in the first round. Thilmany made it four butons in the third frame. Minkelsch was safe on an error and Klammer knocked the apple through a hole in the fence in left field.

The shopmen scored three more markers in the second. Both teams garnered four hits. Stegeman fanned eight papermakers, three of them in the first and three in the last rounds. Kilster retired eight shopmen.

MERTES DELEGATE TO CONVENTION IN WEST

Kaukauna—Nis Mertes left Sunday night for Seattle, Wash., where he will attend the annual convention of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers as a delegate from Kaukauna branch, No. 232. He will be gone about three weeks. John Engerson started on the trip with Mr. Mertes but probably will stop off at points to visit relatives, eventually arriving in Washington. Mr. Engerson's trip, however, will be entirely a pleasure trip.

INDEPENDENTS DEFEAT HOLLANDTOWN SQUAD

Kaukauna—The fast Hollandtown baseball team was defeated Sunday by the Kaukauna Independents in a twilight game. The score was 10 to 2. Coon and VanTogian composed the battery for the home team and Bonitsch and Brown for Kaukauna. The two teams will play a return game here in the near future.

PRACTICE SHOOT

Kaukauna—Five members of the Kaukauna Gun club gathered at the club grounds Sunday afternoon and spent the afternoon practice shooting. Joseph J. Jansen and Mr. Pfund shot at 100 birds. Jansen getting 81 and the latter breaking 52 pheasants. Frank Hilgenberg broke 22 out of 25 birds and Joseph Dietzler plucked 43 out of 50. E. Taylor hit 57 out of 75 targets.

ATTEND FUNERAL

Kaukauna—Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Cooke and Miss Adeline Cooke have returned from Camp Cleghorn. Chas. O'Lake, Waupaca, to attend the funeral of Miss Jane Cooke who died in De Pere Monday noon. PUMP GARDEN HOSE OUT OF FIRE HYDRANT

Special to the Post-Crescent

New London—Members of the local fire department have a mystery on their hands to solve. While testing the hydrant on the corner of Lima and North Water sts on Monday evening, they pumped a five foot length of garden hose from the hydrant. Everything had been going along nicely for some time, when all of a sudden the water supply didn't seem to be so big. It gave the impression that there was something stuck in the drain of the pump. So they took the suction hose from the hydrant, and Lo and Behold, they pulled out five feet of garden hose. How it got into the hydrant is a mystery.

New Method Eradicates Wrinkles Like Magic

It has been found that a simple tarrkoot mixture, spread over the entire face, acts almost magically upon even the deepest wrinkles and crowfeet. It produces the natural rejuvenating effect of massage, only to a more marked degree. The danger of loosening the skin or muscles, as in unscientific or too frequent massaging, is eliminated, no rubbing being necessary. On the other hand, the skin and underlying tissues are so invigorated they become much firmer and the skin's texture is so changed it again assumes its original clear, smooth, velvety appearance.

If you will procure a package of powdered tarrkoot from your druggist mix a spoonful with a spoonful of lemon juice, apply with the fingers, and sit down before your mirror, you will see the wrinkles and sags disappear in less than 15 minutes! You will be amazed to say the least. Tarrkoot of course is perfectly harmless. And certainly it is inexpensive; a treatment costs less than three cents!

STAGE And SCREEN

"IN LOVE WITH LOVE"

"In Love With Love," the William Fox picture at the New Bijou today and Thursday centers around an interesting modern "flapper" who couldn't say "No." It wasn't so much because she was afraid of hurting the feelings of the bevy of suitors who flocked about her, each with a diamond he hoped she might wear; but it was because she was "in love with love" and though each of them in turn was her particular ideal.

The climax comes with the entry of a young engineer who was more interested in bridge building than in love making. Because he was practical and unromantic, he plied her curiosity. Finally, she admitted to herself, and to him, that she was in reality in love for the first time in her life. Then came the very obvious difficulty of making him believe it, but in the end, she succeeds and all is well.

Marguerite De La Motte, in the principal feminine role, is convincing. It is easy to imagine how almost any man could fall head over heels with a girl so beautiful and charming. Allan Forrest, Harold Goodwin and Allan Sears are all well cast as three of the suitors, and Mabel Forrest does a sparkling, comedy characterization of a young grass-widow who has completely renounced love in all its phases.

"CHICKIE"

Girls, would you marry for wealth without love, or would you sacrifice wealth to win love. That's "Chickie's" problem in First National's fascinating drama to be shown at the Elite theatre for the last time tonight. Dorothy Mackall, Hobart Bosworth, John Bowers, Gladys Brockwell, Myrtle Stedman and a big cast appear.

COLLEEN MOORE ENACTS ROLE OF "SALLY" IN LATEST PICTURE

Those who enjoyed the stage version of Ziegfeld's noted musical success "Sally," in which Marilyn Miller made her permanent success, will find added joy in First National's screen version of the same piece, starring Colleen Moore which comes to the Elite Theatre as a return engagement on Thursday and Friday.

Colleen Moore brings to the role of "Sally" a genius for sympathetic interpretation that unquestionably will make this role an outstanding hit of her long list of successes. "Sally" calls for much human interest, pathos, fire of temperament and delightful sentiment.

Miss Moore possesses all of those qualifications as she ably demonstrated in "Flaming Youth," "The Perfect Flapper" and "So Big."

Colleen Moore and Leon Errol in "Sally"

County Deaths

SCHABACH FUNERAL

Chilton—Funeral services for Matt Schabach, 72, who died here Sunday after an illness of three years were held at St. Mary church Wednesday morning, with the Rev. Father Thelen in charge.

Mr. Schabach was a retired farmer, he moved to Chilton with his family in 1920. He is mourned by his widow and six children, Mrs. Charles Mertens of Sherwood, Mrs. Norman Dohr, of Saukville, Mrs. Floyd Shaurette, of Milwaukee, Miss Teresa, Chilton, Frank and John, town of Chilton, and eleven grandchildren and three brothers.

HERMAN DEKARSKE

Special to Post-Crescent
Hilbert—A telegram message was received here Tuesday by Herman Dekarske informing him that his son Otto had died at a hospital at Milwaukee following an operation for tonsillitis. Mr. Dekarske left for Milwaukee to make arrangements to remove the body here for burial.

The deceased is a former Hilbert boy. He was employed here as carpenter for several years. After his marriage to Miss Edith Hanemann of Kaukauna they moved to Clintonville where he was employed at the E. W. D. Auto Co. for five years. In March this year he suffered a severe attack of influenza of which he never completely recovered. He remained with his relatives here and Rantoul for several weeks. He submitted to the operation a few days ago.

He is survived by his father of Hilbert, his widow and one daughter, three sisters, Mrs. Albert Knoepfel of Milwaukee, Mrs. Reimer and Mrs. Wunrow, Hilbert, two brothers August and William, Hilbert.

LEGION WEEKLY PRAISES BADGER VETERANS CAMP

The work of the Wisconsin department of the American Legion in establishing the camp for its disabled veterans at Tomahawk Lake is given about two pages of space in the issue of the American Legion Weekly dated Aug. 7. The article, written by Alexander A. Gardiner, describes the camp, its purpose and activities. Mr. Gardiner spent two weeks at the camp while getting the material for his story.

The article states that the camp is wholly a Wisconsin idea as the university extension courses were and lauds the state legion for its work, declaring that every state should have such a camp. The work of L. Hugo Keller of Appleton, state commander, and his delegation in "camping on the steps of the state house until they persuaded the legislature to appropriate $50,000 for the camp," also comes in for its share of praise. Another former local man, George Merkel, now caretaker at the camp, and his record and work is mentioned in the article.

WANT PULMOTOR, LIFE GUARD AT CHAIN O' LAKES

Drowning of Three Appleton Girls Starts Move for Better Protection of Bathers

Waupaca — Persons living at the Wisconsin Veterans home and Chain o' Lakes in general have for the want of nearby equipment for the purpose of rescuing persons in danger of drowning. Since the tragedy last month when three Appleton young ladies lost their lives in McGroen lake there has been on foot a movement fostered by the William R. Shipley post of the American legion and assisted by its auxiliary to raise funds to purchase a pulmotor which can be kept nearby.

The Veterans home hospital will likely be the place selected and Dr. E. F. Hafemeister with his assistants will operate the instrument in an emergency. But one pulmotor is within reach of the lakes that belong to the city of Waupaca and is kept at the city hall.

At the time of the drowning last month a phone call was put in for the local instrument which was taken out there immediately but was not used because it is said the bodies had been in the water too long. A certain group at the lakes also are advocating the employment of a life guard for three months during the summer. The person engaged would be required to patrol the entire lake system, giving advice where needed and possibly conduct a swimming school.

The program to be played by Carroll's Waupaca band at the concert Thursday night, Aug. 13, is as follows: March — "Rolling Thunder," overture—"Altar of Genius," Piece de Salon — "Souvenirs and Regrets," popular or requested number: selections—"II Trovatore," Dainty Nocturne—"Sweet Jasmine," march—"The Circus Bee," overture—"Rienzi," "Star Spangled Banner."

Applications for marriage licenses received by L. F. Shoemaker, county clerk, for the week ending Aug. 11, were as follows: Harold R. Winter, Oshkosh, and Mathilda Petzer, Clintonville; Rudd W. Smith, Okeechobee, Fla., and Iris M. Knoke, New London; Donald C. Rimm, New London, and Mabel E. Morale, New London.

D. Day of the Wisconsin Veterans home paid a fine of $10 and costs in justice court for speeding on W. Fulton-st.

Saturday the Appleton tennis club comes here to play the locals on their home court.

In the absence of Manager Steele of the Indian Crossing casino Jay Cornwall of Sheridan is acting as manager.

H. M. Cheslev of Milwaukee is visiting relatives and old friends in the city.

The Rev. T. W. North will deliver a lecture at Camp Clegorn assembly on Wednesday night on "American Democracy. Our Ideals and Our Problems."

Miss Laura Shoemaker, assistant principal of the High school, has returned from Madison where she has been attending summer school.

WIFE DESERTER TO GO ON TRIAL

Charles Younger of Sherwood Is Bound Over to Circuit Court at Chilton

Special to Post-Crescent
Sherwood—On Saturday morning a number of local people went to Chilton to appear as witnesses in the Charles Younger preliminary hearing at the courthouse. Younger abandoned his wife and six little children some time ago and left them without any means of support. It was charged. He went to South Dakota where he was brought back by John Dierich, sheriff of Calumet-co., and lodged in the county jail. After the hearing Judge court in its October session. He was bound over to the circuit court again placed in jail. His wife will ask for a divorce on grounds of non-support and brutal treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kees and Mrs. Andrew Brantmeier autoed to Holy Hill on Sunday.

The Sherwood baseball team autoed to Stockbridge to play the local team there Sunday. The game was very exciting from start to finish, both teams playing a fast game. The score was 11 to 10 in favor of the Stockbridge boys.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Dertus went to Milwaukee Saturday to attend the funeral of a relative.

A hail storm Saturday night did considerable damage in some sections. Fields of corn were cut to shreds and standing grain was flattened to the ground.

Book Agent Gets Lots Of Experience, Little Profit

Nobody loves a book agent. Even the cultured city of Appleton with its college atmosphere is not conducive to prosperity in the noted profession. His existence is a bane to the average housewife. And to the husbands of those women who accept his doctrine, his existence is more than a bane—he is an unnecessary expense.

Follow one of these "door pounders" on one of his daily excursions. He must start out looking like a prosperous business man. And so, altogether he must press his shiny coat with a borrowed iron, clean his hat with gasoline from a tourist's car, shine his shoes with a banana skin found in the park, and shave with a broken bottle, he appears before his first prospect in resplendent condition. His cast iron smile would win confidence from a Wall Street broker as he tires his knuckle on his first screen door. Some urchin's, "They're gone for the summer," dims his countenance somewhat, but he braces to the next house with hope and vigor.

MISSUS SLEEPS LONG
Here he is met by a buxom young woman, and again pressing forth his soul stirring appeal, she tells him, "The missus ain't up, yet," and slams the door. Disdaining to discuss house. He meets the talkative young literata who criticizes his work. He is sent stepping about his business by the housewife who "was cheated by an agent once," and is not going to let another guy get away with it. He is refused entrance by the giggly young married woman whose husband won't allow traveling men to call. He pours forth his plea to a sympathetic listener to find that she cannot read English. He meets the woman who thinks she has a set of encyclopedias and takes a story magazine. He meets them all in one day's work, and usually all he gets out of it are callouses on his knuckles. But the profession as a whole is grateful to the city of Appleton for having parks on the outskirts of the city. After a hard day's tramping, it's good to rest far from the city's noise and turmoil. And so beneath the tables and benches, sheltered from the climate by the furniture of the city, he sleeps the sleep of the just and the unjust. To be he goes early, for thus he does not tax his appetite, and he must be up early in the morning so that he can get at the milk bottles on the back steps before the housewives are abroad. All in all, the book agent's life is full of interesting experiences but like the Irishman who put his head in the meat chopper for the experience, what doth it profit him?

The man who took a short cut

THE sales manager of a Mid-West concern learned of a large order about to be placed by a firm situated hundreds of miles away. He knew that others were after it and feared it would be closed before his representative could arrive. He called the firm on Long Distance to ask them to hold the order until he could send a salesman. It wasn't necessary. He got the order himself then and there. Are you and your house using Long Distance to save the worry, expense and delay of personal trips? When a sale is about to be lost, do you turn to the telephone? A long distance call is the comfortable, inexpensive way to go. It gets you there in a few minutes. It inspires confidence and is evidence of a desire to serve. Our Commercial Department will gladly show you numerous new ways in which the telephone can serve your business. In the meantime, do not wait. ## SEASONABLE FURS

The marked scarcity of fur skins and the unprecedented demand for fashionable fur garments, both summer and winter models, have led to the production of inferior grades of garments which are advertised for low prices. The buyer is warned against investing in this class of furs, and we would offer a word of advice. The only way to secure the full value of your money is to buy from a house which tells you just what kind of fur you are getting and its reasonable market value.

This house stands for square dealing in every department of the fur industry, and it also stands for the latest designs in every kind of fur garments. We cordially invite the public to call.

BIGGEST AND BEST FAIR IS SEYMOUR'S AIM

Free Attractions and Farm
Exhibits Galore Assured at Annual Exhibition

With the promise of the biggest and best program ever shown in this community, the Seymour Fair and Driving Park association has completed all arrangements for the annual fair in that city on Tuesday,
Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 25,
26 and 27.

Attractions in the form of horse races, ballgames, a miniature circus and contests of every conceivable nature will be offered during the three days, and fireworks will enhance the interest of the evening programs.

Eight fast horse races have been scheduled by the committee. Two harness races will be presented daily, and on the last two days running races will also be held. The racing program, as announced by the committee, is as follows:

Tuesday, Aug. 25—2:30 pace added
money, $300; 2:30 trot added money, $300.

Wednesday, Aug. 26—2:20 pace, added money, $300; 2:19 trot, added money, $300; running race, one half mile, $50.

Thursday, Aug. 27—2:15 pace, added
money, $300; 2:16 trot, added money,
$300; running race, one-half mile, $50.
Horse pulling contests will likewise be featured Tuesday. The preliminaries will start at 10 o'clock in the morning, and the finals will begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

THREE BALL GAMES

Baseball games have been scheduled for all three days between the best and most evenly matched team in the community. The Pulaski and Zachow nines will entertain on the diamond Tuesday. On the following day Appleton and Duck Creek teams will play, while the last day Anston
and Seymour will be presented.

Ten big free attractions have also been obtained. Included in the bookings are Sir Victor's Miniature Pony Circus, Victor Lasalle and Loretta Four, Madam Bedini, known as the "World's Greatest Equestrienne," and the four Merkel sisters.

Comedy which is not only extremely acceptable but refreshing will be furnished by the pony circus. All the animals are well trained in their comical but difficult performances, and the number is bound to meet the approval of the spectators.

Victory Lasalle and Loretta Four will offer as their part of the program grand opera selections with string instrument accompaniment.
Victor Lasalle, tenor, was formerly in grand opera in Europe, where he studied under some of the most famous teachers of the continent. Miss Loretta is a dramatic soprano and composer.

Recognized as the greatest horsewoman in American for years, Madame Bedini will be the headliner in the way of grand stand attractions with her beautiful, intelligent horses.
The four Merkel sisters will astound
onlookers with their acrobatic feats,
and will perform their act of nerve and muscle dexterity with ease and artistic grace.

FIREWORKS DISPLAY

An exceptional display of fireworks is promised on the evenings of the last two days. The fireworks have been furnished by a company which boasts of special features, and effects in its goods. A factory representative will conduct the program
each night.

The entire program has been arranged under the auspices of the Seymour Fair and Driving park association, of which F. W. Huth is president and George F. Fiedler is secretary. The officers predict that, if fair weather prevails, all former attendance records will be broken.

The regular admission price of former years will be charged. Children under 12 years of age will be admitted free.

Music for the three days will be furnished by the famous 120th Field
Artillery band of this city and the American Legion band of Green Bay.

NEENAH DRIVER CHANGED MIND ABOUT HANGING

By Associated Press
Green Bay—J. R. Daugherty, Ne-enah, was "hung up" for $100 and costs here Tuesday.

When witnessing the arrest of an intoxicated motorist here Monday night, Daugherty showered praises upon the officer making the arrest and said:

"Every drunken driver should be hung." Several hours later the same policeman arrested the Neenah man on a like charge.

SILVER CUPS UP FOR BEST PHOTOS

Badger Photographers Enter Pictures in Competition at Convention

With the annual convention of the state association of photographers to be held in Fond du Lac from Sept.
23 to 24, inclusive, all the photographers of this city are expected to attend. An exhibit of portraits loaned by the International Photographers' association, will be one of the features at the meeting.

Charles Wallinger of the Wallinger Studios, Chicago and John R. Snow of Mankato, Minn., have promised to act as judges of the photographs which the Wisconsin men will submit a samples of the best work. A silver loving cup will be awarded the maker of the best photograph, and the prize winning picture will go into the permanent salon of the state association. A silver cup also will be offered as the grand portrait prize, and another for the best commercial picture.

Photographic demonstrations of the making of negatives and the manipulation of lighting effects will be given by Louis Dwarshak of Duluth, Minn., and A. B. Cornish of Rochester, N. Y.

Home Building Time Is Here

And this booklet of ours—Brick Homes—is just what you need to round out your ideas for that home
you have been planning and dreaming of for so long.

To most people the building of a home is an investment of the first magnitude. Therefore plans should be carefully chosen and every detail of construction and cost given thoughtful consideration.

Mistakes in building are a source of irritation year after year, while good judgment shown in the beginning will yield full measure of satisfaction.

Let this Bureau aid you in your home building. It has for free distribution a booklet showing the floor plans and exterior views of 60 brick homes. Just clip the cou-

LINCOLN FALLS FROM STANDARD IN NEW NOVEL

"Rugged Water" Is Not Up to Usual Excellence of Lincoln's Works

BY ELEANOR WING

When one settles down for a few hours to read a story by Joseph Lincoln he expects a comfortable amount of excitement and a lot of good characterization. The latter quality is never astonishing, or particularly haphazard, but it is usually vital and realistic. "Rugged Water," published a few months ago by Appleton, does not fulfill the readers' expectations by any means, even though its setting is the same vivid one on the Cape Cod shore, and its theme, the same primitive life.

The story is a procession of characters, all of whom have appeared in earlier outlines in previous novels by the author. Lincoln excels in his early portraits of old sea captains. But Captain Myrick, in this latest novel, is not as strong a man as Cap'n Eri or Cap'n Dan, his predecessors. Captain Bartlett is only a religious fanatic with a pronounced yellow streak. His personality in no chapter of the novel influences the brave lighthouse men, the captain is expected to dominate. Bartlett is only an apparent foil to a too heroic hero, Calvin Homer.

The villain, "Rugged Water," is obviously a coward. But he is too weak to be anything but futile. The two girls, Norma Bartlett and Myra Fuller, are typical accurately drawn persons who are engaged in the age old battle for the same man—Cal Homer. Their use regulation feminine tactics in their warfare, and of course, the best girl wins.

But, in spite of the rather mediocre major personnel, Lincoln strikes his old stride at times through out the story. Selousus Gammon and his awe inspiring wife, Jimena, add a good deal of fun to the tale. Selousus is brave in the face of all peril, with the exception of his wife's wrath. He causes much hilarity among the lighthouse men with his daily inventions of duties to keep him far away from home, out of reach of the tongue lashings of his better half.

The sea pictures are strong and very beautiful, and they gain in fact, or because of their familiarity. Some of the romance of pirate days and perilous medieval water journeys find place on nearly every page which Lincoln writes.

Several persons from here will appear on the program of the camp meeting of the Evangelical League and Sunday School convention of the Appleton District Wisconsin Conference of the Evangelical church at Forest Junction Aug. 21-30.

Among those on the program are: Rev. C. F. Rabehl, Mrs. H. A. Frankze, Rev. H. A. Bernhardt, Rev. H. A. Frankze, Erwin Sauterlich, Herman Brockhaus, Rev. W. J. Abe, Rev. H. P. Jordan, formerly of this city, Rev. William Glaeser and Dorotea Muehl, both of Seymour, are also listed.

Rev. C. F. Rabehl is the presiding elder, Marie Finger is secretary, and J. Trautmann is citizenship secretary of the organization.

With The Lovers Of Books

Typical Wright Novel Is Fresh From The Publishers

Harold Bell Wright has gone and written another—"A Son of His Father" (Appleton.)

The sufficient and accurate review is to say that the millions whose adulation made Wright the most popular American author will not be one bit disappointed in this latest. It is in flawless Harold Bell Wright manner.

One of those vast semi-feudal Arizona ranches, where the hero, "Big Boy" Morgan, had inherited from his pioneer father, is the scene. The young master is throwing himself to the dogs because his speculations with a sick eastern business man are about to rob him of his home. Into this masculine domain is brought Nora O'Shea, just from County Clare. The girl's sweetness, together with intricate plotting and the intervention of providence, bring things out to a perfectly glorious finish.

The story depends entirely upon Nora. The young man for whom it is named is sketched with hardly so much attention as is the romantic, guitar-strumming cowboy, Pablo. In addition to the winning personality of the girl, the book is crowded with such elements as squaw men, false mustaches, fiery sermons, repentant villains, stampedes, gun battles, smugglers, rose gardens and moral lessons.

Rev. C. F. Rabehl is the presiding elder, Marie Finger is secretary, and J. Trautmann is citizenship secretary of the organization.

Adventures In The Library

By ARNOLD MULDER

WRITERS UNSOCIAL

An essay by Woodrow Wilson in the collection, "More Literature," written many years ago, has been written president, calls attention to the fact that the great writer is almost always more of an individual than a member of a group, that he is best off alone, that "literary centers" often do him vastly more harm than good. It is true, we speak of "schools of writers" but very often such a "school" consists of one "original writer" (Wilson's phrase) and many others who follow him, whose light is a reflected glow. But very often the very great have come out of obscurity, have been out of their own way, have made standards for themselves, and have compelled the recognition of posterity when they have been displaced by the "schools" of their day.

At present, a development that arouse long after the Wilson essay was written, there is a tendency to the formation of "authors' associations." These have a certain value because they help to straighten out the kinks from the business side of the profession of letters, but so far as I know no very great writer has ever been developed by any such organization. Woodrow Wilson in his essay is rather of the opinion that the group is likely to spoil the "original" quality of the writer's mind.

FATAL TO NOVICE

Especially does he believe that it is wholesome for the young writer to become associated with a literary group, to spend the formative years of his life in a scented "literary center." He goes even further. It is not wholesome for the young writer to know too much about what is being written, to be too familiar with the critical opinions of the day. As a member of a literary group he is likely to pay too much attention to the pinpoints of those he daily converses with and his work becomes a process of literary inbreeding.

mistakes and to produce much that is worthless but he is also likely to produce now and then something that is new and vital. Real literature is not a thing of hot houses, Wilson essay points out; it does not thrive in the hothouse air. It is of the open field where it can take its chances in the struggle for life and where it can be made strong by struggle. "The great growths of literature spring up in the open, where the air is free and they can be a law unto themselves. The law of life, here as elsewhere, is the law of naturalism; with what was the earth laden, and the atmosphere?"

WRITER FOR AGES The kind of writer Wilson is thinking of in his essay is of course not necessarily the "successful writer" but the writer who counts for all time, the kind of writer who "belongs to the ages." There are in all countries groups and coteries of writers that help the members to get to the literary markets. They advertise one another not only but daily contract with such a group unconsciously gives the writer a sense of what particular kind of thing is current at the moment and what is unwelcome in the offices of the publishers.

But the members of such a group are all likely to write more or less in the same manner, to have about the same thoughts, to make use of the same catchwords. And all that is of the moment, fleeting. While such writers are not so likely to go hungry, neither are they so likely to say anything that is really worth saying for all time.

The great writer, like the great man in an other way, has his best chance if he grows up in obscurity. Wilson asserts. During his formative years he must have time and opportunity to brood, to think, to commune with himself and with life in the raw, native state. The true "original" minds, Wilson points out, have often come from the little "waters" where in the early years they were thrown back upon themselves.

SHOTS STRIKE HOME

Barrett Wendell had away of hitting off a man's character in a single phrase, especially if that man were a public figure. In M. A. DeWolfe How's latest biography, Barrett Wendell and His Letters, we find Wendell saying of Roosevelt just after he had met him early in 1912. "He is a Caesar and he is not quite sure that he is not God." But as the campaign wore on, Wendell's pleasantness ceased and his alarm at the Bull Moose movement led him to remark in September that Roosevelt "is capable in the fervor of his self-confidence, of attempting to seize the government by force." The professor was one of the few people to vote for Taft that year.

JESSICA ARRIVES Few novels have been so impatiently awaited as Bodenheim's new book, "Replenshing Jessica." Promised for March, the book has seen so many revisions, even after it was in galleries, that the manufacturing man had to take a vacation.

Now with much relief the publishers (Bon & Liveright) definitely announce it for June 1st and are beginning to answer a stack of correspondence with three hundred and sixty individual purchasers—an unusual number—who have had their orders in, in some cases for six months.

CHANGING ENGLISH

Philologists have commented on the fact that, since the publication of These United States by Bon & Liveright this plural designation of our country has become incorporated as a common noun in the American language. The words are used frequently now both consciously and unconsciously in conversation, and have also appeared in print.

Gossip About Book People

WHO IS H. D.?

H. D., whose collected poems are being published by Bon & Liveright, is Hilda Doolittle. She was born in 1896 in Bethlehem, Pa. When she was still a child, her father became Director of the Flower Observatory and the family moved to a suburb in the outskirts of Philadelphia. She attended a private school in West Philadelphia, entered Bryn Mawr College in 1914, and went abroad, for what was intended to be a short sojourn, in 1917. After a visit to Italy and France, she came to London, joining Ezra Pound and helping to organize the Imagists. Her work, signed H. D., began to appear in a few magazines and its unusual quality was recognized at once. She married one of the most talented of the English members of this group, Richard Aldington, in 1913 and remained in London and continued to write. In 1920 she made her long-deferred visit to America, settling on the Californian coast, but returning the next year to England. H. D. has consistently held to the letter as well as to the spirit of the Imagist credo, and is considered by many as the most important member of the group.

Stewart Is Student Of Mark Twain

The gentle art of laughing at ourselves, our customs, our manners, our fetishes and our business methods is enjoying a revival.

Since Mark Twain, we have had many funsters, but few burlesquers. The Irving Cobb school of comedy has carried obvious, rather than penetrating burlesque.

From time to time Europeans have visited our shores and found plenty to laugh at, but the laugh was frequently a matter of varying viewpoint—as an American laughs at transportation in many parts of Europe. Our own writing men are far more able to see the innate ridiculousness of many seriously taken practices, as Mark Twain so ably proved.

Now Donald Ogden Stewart is no Twain, though he is closer to the Twain school than most, while Ring Lardner is definitely and finally creator of a burlesque school quite all his own, though slightly reminiscent of Rail Nye.

Stewart has added the latest of burlesques in "The Crazy Fool" (A. C. Boni). It may not be the best work Stewart has done, but it is about the most slapsticky funny. Here we find hilarious pokes at the sacred business conference, efficiency methods, the go-get-'em campaigns, the big promotion stuff, with a long list of characters in and out of an insane asylum.

Stewart has used an old idea, that of the young man who falls heir to an insane asylum, and must put it on a paying basis within such-and-such a time or lose the beautiful heroine. The people of the crazy house are all burlesque types but, beyond the mere ludicrousness of the situations, may be found considerable irony.

As for Lardner, Scribners have recently issued a set of his best books which place the "You know me, Al" creator at the head of our serious funny men. These include "What Of It?" with Lardner's impressions of Europe; "The Big Town," in Gullible and the "Missus" see life in the "big town"; "Gullible's Travels," in which Gullible continues his adventures, and "You Know Me, Al," that more-than-baseball classic.

And while speaking of burlesque and satire, there has been no funnier nor more sophisticated piece of writing on the "sex" and "marriage" theme since "Zuleika Dobson" than the anonymously written "Serena Blandish" (Doran).

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burton © 1925 NEA SERVICE INC.

Halfway to the first landing she stopped and turned.

"There's something I've been wanting to say to you, Gloria, and I may as well say it now," she said emphatically. "If Dick dies, remember it's you who've killed him! He's been all run down from worry for weeks and weeks. Maggie's told me how you've worn him out with your rowdy parties and your late hours! And just the other day he had to come to his father for money to pay for some of your folder-ol! If you had any brains you'd know that worry kills more people than hard work ever does! It's no wonder to me."

Her voice broke again and she went on upstairs.

Gloria slammed the door behind her and went outdoors.

Her heart was filled with hate and anger toward her mother-in-law.

She walked along the lamp-lit streets thinking of cruel cutting things she might have said to her if she had only thought of them in time! How she wished she had!

The streets were very quiet. Scarcely anyone passed. And as Gloria wandered along, a sort of peace stole over her.

There was a hint of spring in the air. The town, itself, seemed to be waiting for the return of a divine hand that would wake buds on the trees and early crocuses in the brown earth. Gloria suddenly wanted someone to whom she could go with her trouble—her misery.

Not her mother! . . . she had never confided in her mother.

Not May Seymour—nor Stanley Wayburn, either. They were fair weather friends. There was no sympathy for anyone in either of them. That was a cinch!

Then Gloria thought of Lola Hough. Shabby, neglected Lola, whom she had hurt and insulted only yesterday. Would Lola forgive her? Gloria knew she would.

And not only would she forgive her. She would probably have comfort and understanding for her, too. Lola was like that.

Trouble softened people and made them more human. And when it came to trouble, Lola certainly had more than her share. In fact, trouble was about all she did have!

Fifteen minutes later Gloria was ringing the bell of the old Hough home-stead.

Lola, herself, came to the door. She was covered with a big flannel bath apron. And under one arm she carried young Teddy Hough.

"Well, of all things! It's Gloria Gregory!" Lola cried. She smiled. "I'm just on my way upstairs to put the babies to bed." She went on. "Come along, and then we can talk in peace."

Lola seemed to know that Gloria had come because she was in trouble, without being told.

Upstairs in the big front bedroom the twins, in nightgowns and red bath-ropes, were having bread and milk for their supper.

Before the grate fire a bath basin was waiting for young Teddy. On the mantel shelf, his bottle of milk stood in readiness.

Gloria sank into an armchair covered with clean, faded cretonne. With somber eyes she watched Lola bathe her baby.

"Isn't he a little old kewpie?" Lola laughed, as she took him out of the tub and bundled him into his sleeping-bag.

In Gloria's opinion, Teddy was far too fat, but she didn't say so. She knew that, in Lola's eyes, her three babies were beautiful as cherubs.

Lola tucked them tenderly into their little beds and turned out the light.

"Goodnight, baby birds," she said, softly closing the door.

Gloria followed her silently downstairs to the dining room.

A cold supper was laid there for one. Sliced corned beef, bread and butter, and a bowl of canned peaches.

Lola took an extra plate from the china closet.

"Stay and have a bite of supper with a lonesome woman," she begged. "And while I'm boiling the water for tea, you can tell me what's on your mind. I can see that something's bothering you."

"Something? . . . Everything!" Gloria cried. "My whole life's wrong from start to finish, and I'm just beginning to find it out. . . . Lola, I'm married to a man I don't love."

Lola stared at her with wide-eyed astonishment.

"You don't care for Dick?" she asked.

incredulously. "Why, you must be crazy, Gloria! Dick's the very nicest man I know."

Gloria interrupted her with a harsh laugh.

"And not only that," she said, "but the man I do care about doesn't give a snap of his fingers for me!"

"Who's the man? Anyone I know?" Lola asked curiously.

"Yes, you know him. But I'm not going to say who he is," Gloria answered, stubbornly. "So don't ask me!"

Lola was silent. She measured tea into the little brown pot on the table. Her eyes were thoughtful.

"Oh, I see!" she exclaimed presently.

"What do you see," Gloria asked.

"I see why you come to me with this story," Lola said. "I wondered why you'd picked me. . . . It's Bill you're in love with, isn't it?"

Gloria threw back her head and laughed wildly. That Lola should think she was in love with Bill Hough was too funny! . . . Couldn't she see that he was fat and middle-aged, and had puffs under his eyes?

But that was the way with women who loved their husbands. They thought everybody else was in love with them, too!

"Bill? Not in a million years!" Gloria answered soberly. "No, the reason I told you about myself, Lola, is because you have more sense than the rest of the girls I know. And you won't blab it all over, either."

And I just had to tell somebody! What would you do if you were I?"

Lola pondered.

"Well," she said at last, "if I were you, I'd go right home and tell Dick about it. That's the only square thing for you to do, so far as I can see."

Slowly Gloria shook her lovely head. Her eyebrows straightened into a frown.

"Of course, I can't do that, with Dick so sick," she mused. "But when he's better, I think I will tell him—that is, if he gets better."

Lola set her cup down with a clatter.

"Do you mean to say Dick's sick?" she asked. She couldn't believe her ears.

"I forgot to tell you. He's down with pneumonia," Gloria answered. "That's why I had to get out of the house."

There's a nurse there, and Mother Gregory besides. And the whole place sounds and smells like a hospital. Oh, it's awful!"

Lola gasped. For a minute she was speechless.

"Well, my advice to you is to get home as soon as you can," she cried, when she had found her voice. "The idea of leaving a sick husband! Suppose Dick wants you and you aren't there? For goodness' sake, Gloria, don't sit there! You've got to go home right away!"

Dully, Gloria rose to her feet.

"I suppose I must," she sighed drearily. "But, gosh, how I hate to go back there!"

The next ten days were a nightmare to Gloria.

Dick hovered between life and death. Sometimes he called for her in his delirium. Sometimes it was his mother he wanted.

Mother Gregory came every morning and sat in the sunroom, knitting or reading her Bible.

At meals, she and Mrs. O'Hara told each other all their best stories about operations and unusual diseases. Gloria shivered through these meals.

One sunny afternoon she made up her mind to ask May Seymour to go for a walk with her. She went out into the hall and picked up the telephone to give May's number.

Mrs. O'Hara was talking on the extension, up in Dick's room. Gloria listened intently.

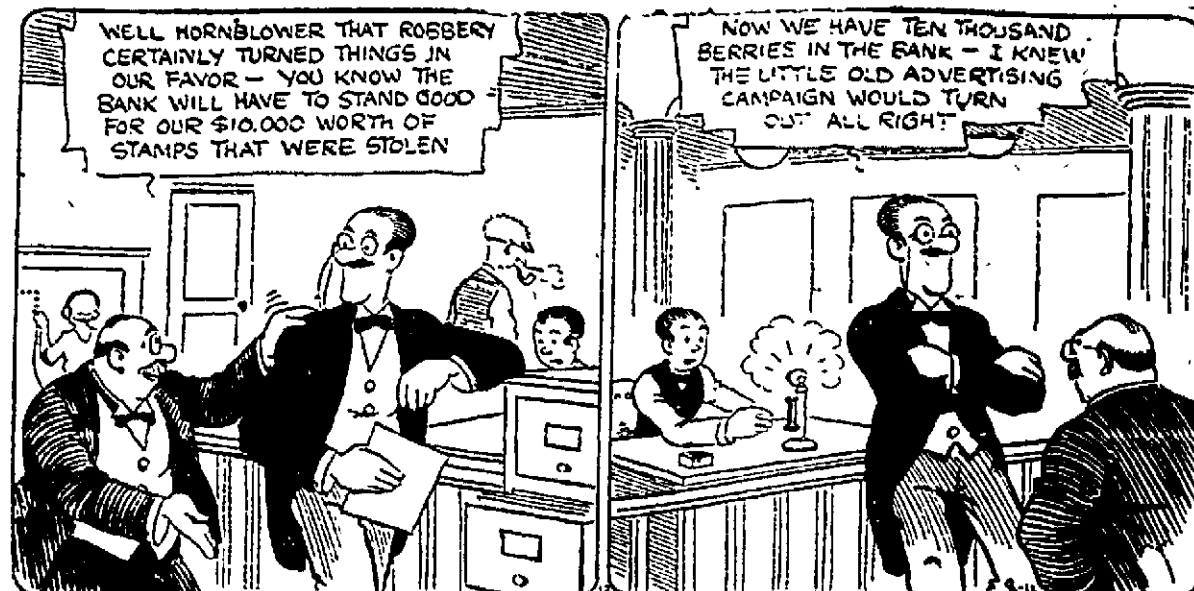

"He'll get well if his heart holds out. But it's pretty weak," she heard Mrs. O'Hara say.

Then another voice answered her. "Well, I'm at his office. Phone me if anything happens," it said. It was Miss Drugg's voice! She and her sister were talking about Dick!

PIRATES WHIP GIANTS TO INCREASE LEAD IN N. L.

Slipping Champs Unable To Cop Even Break On Midsummer Journey

Veteran Eddie Rommel and Stan Coveleskie Keep A. L. Leaders in Chase

New York—Four and one half games behind the leaders again as a result of defeat Tuesday at the hands of the Pirates, the New York Giants Wednesday neared the end of a disastrous mid-summer road trip without prospect of securing an even break for the trip before they take the trail home Thursday night.

By snatching victory from the National League champions with a five-run rally in the eighth inning, 7 to 4, the Pittsburgh pacemakers tagged the New York team with its 11th defeat in 19 starts since McGraw led his cohorts out of the Polo Grounds on July 23. An even break at Boston and three victories out of a series of four at Chicago gave the club an encouraging start until the western tour brought them into St. Louis.

The Cardinals gave the champions their first shove down the chute and the Cincinnati Reds catching them in motion on the slide added a yush resulting in six straight defeats. Railing to victory in the Cincinnati getaway and fighting back in the opening game with the Pirates, they lifted their string of triumphs to eight, but by stopping the Pittsburgh club Wednesday and Thursday they would still fall one game short of an even break on the road and would reduce the gap to first place only to two games and a half.

The Cincinnati Reds profited by the defeat of the Giants to edge back within three games of second place by hitting the Brooklyn Robins with a barrage of 14 hits, winning over Oeschger and Brown easily, 7 to 2. Larry Benton limited the Chicago Cubs to four hits and the Boston Braves breezed through to an easy win in the only other National league game, 9 to 2. The American League turned in three well-pitched games, with the veterans, Rommel and Coveleskie carrying along the leaders, Philadelphia and Washington. At an even pace, Coveleskie allowed Cleveland eleven safeties, but the Senators won 3 to 1.

Rommel allowed two more hits than Vangilder of the Browns but the Athletics bunched their five singles in the fifth and sixth to win, 3 to 2.

Ray Schalk, celebrating his thirtieth anniversary in organized baseball, joined his mates on the White Sox in stampeding the New York Yankees who have been engaged during the last month in spending $200,000 for new players. Nineteen hits gave Chicago a one-sided victory 15 to 2. Ruffing of the Boston Red Sox shutout Detroit 1 to 0, in the other American League game after a mound duel with Rip Collins. Russell's triple in the meet. Plenty of promising material can be seen on the courts of the city and to keep the game flourishing here the boys should enter the meet.

The "T" team which has staged two meets this year has a few fine players, a number of Lawrence men are in town and the Appleton Tennis club, with its excellent court, should furnish a little material. A former Chicago U star now is residing in the city also. George La Eynde, Blue net star, is the valley titleholder in the singles and will represent Oshkosh, his home town, in the meet.

KIWANIS WALLOP ROTARY, 12-3

Fielding of Doc Marshall Features Battle for "Cellar" Honors in Lark Loop

Cracking the offerings of Lothar Graef to all corners of Jones park in the early innings the Kiwanis team of the Lark loop climbed out of a tie for last place Tuesday afternoon and shoved the Rotarians down deep into the cellar by a 12-3 score. The Rotarians were unable to get started in the early innings and a few bad errors behind Graef put him in hot water. After the losers got all the bum baseball out of their system, they settled down and the crowd saw a real ball game until the finish. However, the Rotary crew was unable to do much with the offerings of McKenzie and Basing, Kiwanis mound artists, at any stage of the battle.

The winners got a big start in the first frame when big Cub Buck refused to bend far and let a couple blows go past short. He evidently was in training for the Packer grid school judging from his rare "boots." McKenzie scored a four-bagger in the second frame when he outlived a ball hit to the outfield. McCourt of the winners hit a clean three-bagger.

The fielding feature of the game, which also cops the loop pennant for the season, brought the "vast" crowd to its feet for ten solid minutes of prolonged applause which subsided only when the hero, Doc Marshall, thanked his loyal supporters. For Doc, trusty guardian of one of the Rotarian's highly-valued outer gardens, backed up on the hills to drag down a fly labelled for at least three bases. Before he could subdue the plaudits of his many admirers he was forced to uncover his heavy head of hair and take a couple curtain calls.

Batteries for the big tilt were: Kiwanis—McKenzie, Basing and Bacon; Rotary—Graef and Kahn. "Cap" Carlson cheated equally for both sides as the "extra" man on the field.

Vernon, Calif. — Lou Paluso, Salt Lake City lightweight, fought a draw with Ace Hudkins in ten rounds, the crowd staging an uproar in disagreement with the decision.

Appleton's entries in the Fox River Valley tournament which will be held in Oshkosh on Aug. 22-23 have not been determined as yet but the local city probably will have several men in the meet. Plenty of promising material can be seen on the courts of the city and to keep the game flourishing here the boys should enter the meet.

Little To Have 15 "W" Men For 1925 Grid Crew

Madison—Fifteen letter men and seven experienced grid performers who were out for spring practice will form the nucleus for Wisconsin's 1925 football team as a glance at Coach George Little's prospects reveals.

The wing positions promise to be among the best in the conference with Captain Polaski, Burrus, Blackman, and Long, all winners of a "W" and Cameron, Solbra, and Spindler after the jobs.

There are three "W" men back to battle for the tackle positions, besides a number of other excellent men. Nelson, Straubel and Kasiska, all members of the 1924 team, are the "W" wearers, while VaSalle, Sauger, De Haven, Spies, Eves, Sabst, showed well in the intensive spring practice of 1925. The tackle position should be as powerful as the ends.

Two "W" winners, and a great number of highly capable men gives the guard position a potent outlook. Sykes and Stipek, both veteran linemen, and the "W" men are two leading candidates. Van Bremmer, one of the spring practice's best players, will also be a contender.

Carney, Cole, Pedderson, McCormick, Daehuber, Hoffman, Saltzstein and Huthner are other good guards. From this large number, Coach Little should get several reliable and capable players.

The pivot position is a perplexing one unless Teckemeyer returns. Besides "Teck," who is reckoned as one of the best passers in the Big Ten there is Wilke, who performed well last year, and Bonini, also a veteran of the 1924 squad. Wilson and Kuehlthau are two more accurate passers and good centers. If Coach Little develops a really capable center, the Badger forward wall should be a strong one.

A host of men will be candidates for a quarterback. Lloyd Larson, who called signals last year will be back, as will Doyle Harmon, who performed dually last year—at quarterback and half-back. Harmon is a good droppicker, and three points from his toe may help in more than one 1925 contest. Crofoot, captain of the freshman team of last year, and Barofsky, freshman captain of the year before, are also candidates for the signal calling position. Powers is another good man.

Three "W" men are back to battle for Walker's title and if he is that big there is a chance that he may not care to defend his crown any longer. Zivic is a great fighter and deserves a chance at the title.

SUNDAY'S GAMES

Fond du Lac at Chilton (two games) Oshkosh at Plymouth. CAMPBELLSPORT AT APPLETON.

Fond du Lac—The Plymouth team secured a firmer grip on the Eastern Wisconsin league pennant strings when the defeated Fondys here on Sunday, 4 to 3. The local team has not given up hope in the chase, however, and hopes to win two games in the doubleheader at Chilton next Sunday, at the same time hoping that Oshkosh beats the Cheesemakers at Plymouth.

The Oshkosh team revived Sunday after a string of defeats and shut-out the Campbellsport cellar inhabitants, 20 to 0. Noel and Sommerfeld was the Oshkosh battery, with Hildebrand and Joe Schramm for the Belles.

Outside of the Fondy-Plymouth tilt, the best game came when Appleton defeated Chilton, 3 to 1. H. Tornow and Last was the Appleton battery and Nussbaum and Berth for Chilton. Appleton is another team that should beat Plymouth. The Papermakers are now tied for third place in the league with Oshkosh.

Appleton with Crowe, conqueror of Brue Noel two weeks ago, as the probable pitching choice should find the Belles for a victory, but hope to date gives the down-state crew almost an even chance. Hildebrandt, the Campbellsport hurler, in spite of the 20-0 drubbing by Oshkosh, is a real brand of ball and has bothered the Papermakers before. His work has made even the hard slugging Fondy and Plymouth crews look bad. Schramm, the other Belle moundman, is known as the leagues speed-ball artist. However, Appleton should win and as Oshkosh meets Plymouth, the loop leader, the Papermakers have an even chance of holding the third place rung alone.

ZIVIC WANTS CHANCE AT MITCHELL'S BELT

Milwaukee — Jack Zivic, the great Pittsburgher, who meets Johnny Mendelsohn here Friday night in one of the feature bouts of the first outdoor card ever held in Wisconsin, has filed a challenge with the 140-pound commission, demanding that he be given a chance at Pinkey Mitchell immediately after the stat-like Milwaukee star gets through with Willie Harmon, Friday night.

"We feel confident that Zivic can take the title away from Mitchell," writes Zivic's manager to Judge A. J. Hedding, chairman of the commission, "and we will post $2,500 to bind the match as soon as the commission says the word."

That Hedding will order Mitchell to accept the challenge and give Zivic a chance is almost a certainty.

"Mitchell will either have to defend his title or admit that he cannot make 140 pounds any longer," said Hedding. "He has been gunning for Walker's title and if he is that big there is a chance that he may not care to defend his crown any longer. Zivic is a great fighter and deserves a chance at the title."

	W	L	Pct.
Clintonville	9	3	.750
New London	6	5	.545
Manawa	6	7	.462
Iola	2	8	.200

Clintonville—In a fast game of ball played on the Clintonville field Sunday the home crew tightened its hold on first place in the Waupaca County League and showed its leading contender, New London down a full notch in the loop standings. The score was 22 and the game was undecided until the final out.

In the other game of the schedule Manawa pulled out a 4-1 win over Iola, showing that club farther into the cellar and moving within a game of the second-place crew from the Edison city.

FIDEL LA BARBA AND MISS LA VERNA STARK.

LITTLE CHUTE CREW WANTS SUNDAY GAME

Favored by the breaks the strong Little Chute American Legion team at Little Chute Sunday by a 6-5 count. The Legion boys played ball and made the all-star squad from the lake shore town hustle to win. The winners lineup included a number of former Menasha Fox River Valley League champions of 1923 and 1924. "Pooch" Wurth played an infield position while "Red" Melzer former Ball speed cop, and Doc Delmore played the battery positions.

A three-bagger by Hartjes of Little Chute featured the game. Batteries were Little Chute—Vanderloop, Poacan and Hartjes; Two Rivers—Melzer and Murphy, Delmore. The Little Chute crew is looking for an out of town game for Sunday with any strong semi-pro team of the state.

LEADERS CROSS BATS IN LARK LOOP FINAL

Lions and Legion softball teams, holders of the first two positions in the Lark loop will meet in the final game of the season "Thursday afternoon at Jones park. The Legion has first place clinched and is leading the loop by seven full games, but a real game is in store as the two teams are big rivals and the Lions have given the loop leaders some of their closest games this season. The Lions will have one big aim, that of spoiling their rivals clear record of 11 wins and 0 defeats. Connolly is slated to hurl for the Jungle Kings and Cartier probably will oppose him on the mound.

GRANGERS WHIP FREMONT IN 11 INNINGS, 3-2

Four-baser by Madsen Decides Thrilling Battle on Greenville Ball Field

A homerun in the final half of the eleventh frame by Madsen of Greenville Sunday afternoon broke up a ball game that looked good for at least thirteen innings and gave the Grangers a 3-2 victory over the strong Fremont city team. The game was one of the best played on the Greenville field this season and also one of the best in the county for some time. Both teams played fine ball and neither was able to get a counter over the plate until the ninth frame. Each crew took a run in the ninth and another in the tenth. Greenville taking the extra tally in the eleventh frame.

Nixon on the mound for the winners fanned 17 men and allowed no walks. Only 9 hits were garnered out of his delivery in the even frames. "Dutch" Wahl, well-known all-around athlete, fanned 10 Grangers, walked 3, and hit 1. He only allowed 7 hits, however, in the eleven rounds. E. Schultz and Madsen of Greenville were the hitting stars of the fray. Schultz getting a two-bagger, two singles and a walk in five trips to the plate and Madsen accounting for a homerun, a two-bagger and a walk in the same number of bats. Handler, Granke catcher, also got a two-bagger. Waggoner, Sasse and Boyson, each got two hits apiece for Fremont.

In the final frame Waggoner of Fremont got a single and went to second on L. Lind's sacrifice. A minute later he was caught napping by a snap throw, Nixon to E. Taase. Sasse clouted a two-bagger, but the next batter, Kinsman was thrown out short to first. In the Greenville half of the inning, Madsen first man up, won the tilt with his fatal homer into the far reaches of the outfield.

Fremont has only lost two games this season, both to Greenville, having been defeated at Fremont earlier in the season by a 10-9 score. They have played the Boyson, Santolids, Dale, Omro, Little Chute, Kimberly and other strong crews such as these. Greenville has its strongest team in some years and still is looking games for a few open dates. Managers are requested to call 2358 at Appleton for games.

AMATEUR SPORTS IN GOOD SHAPE—HULBERT

By Associated Press
Chicago—The outlook is bright for a more complete coordination in Athletics among the colleges, the A. A. U. and Fraternal organizations in the belief of Murray Hulbert, president of the Amateur Athletic Association. He came here after a lengthy tour of the western states and will continue through the middlewest before returning to New York.

He found a healthy condition of amateur athletics in California and the Pacific northwest. He made a study of college athletics conditions, but he said "the A. A. U. has no desire now, and never did have any desire to tell the colleges how to conduct their athletic affairs."

GOLF As Champions Play It

What care should one devote to the leather grips on the clubs?
BY BOB CRICKSHANK
One of America's greatest Players

One should take as much pains in looking after one's grips as one's clubs. See that the grips are of the same thickness on all the clubs. Also see that they are all of the same make. Do not have three or four with rough leather grips and the remainder with calfskin grips. Try and get them wet, if it is humanly possible. Always keep strings on both ends as it saves them from tear and wear. Never allow them to remain loose around the club, as this soon wears them out. The professional is the man to look after them.

COUNTY G. O. P.
ORGANIZES FOR FALL CAMPAIGN

Elect Steele as President and Name Delegates to Convention

showed how the primary election system had failed in this state.

MINORITY RULE

"The primary law," he said, "has not worked out right, for the people today have less to say about selecting their candidates than they did before. Under that system it is now possible to elect a man with only 50 per cent of the votes, and men have been nominated by only 16 per cent of the people. When groups get together behind closed doors at Madison and pick out their candidate and tell the people, 'This is your candidate,' we no longer have representative government."

Mr. Catlin admitted that this convention had no standing in law, but maintained that it was more representative of the people than the self-appointed gangs in the rear chambers at Madison. His plea for adoption of principles as proclaimed and practiced by President Coolidge was carried out in the list of resolutions presented by the resolutions committee and passed by the convention. The committee consisted of J. P. Frank, Appleton, W. H. Flewinger, Kimberly, and William Harwood, Kaukauna.

The constitution adopted gives the club the official name of Republicans of Outagamie-co., pledges the organization to the principles of the nation.

1925 HUDSON COACH

A rare bargain in a 1925 Hudson coach, equipped with 1925 license, two bumpers, automatic windshield wiper, rear vision mirror, Motometer and cap. Balloon tires, one spare. $1,050 takes this car.

BUICK TOURING

1922. 6 cylinder. Equipped with 2 spare tires with special tire theft proof lock. 1925 license, motor meter cap, front bumper, visor, windshield wiper. Special rear quarter curtains. Latest style tonneau windshield. Special equipment of this cost the original owner over $250.00. General appearance of the car itself combined with these many extras make it a very snappy car. An exceptional bargain at $600.00.

BUICK MASTER SIX
ROADSTER

1925 model. Completely equipped with 5 balloon tires. Front bumper, fender guards in rear. Motor meter cap, visor, windshield wiper, deflector. Rex winter enclosure. 1925 license, automatic windshield wiper, mechanical condition and finish on the entire car is in every respect as good as it would be on a brand new car. This car has had exceptionally good care, having always been greased and oiled every 300 miles. Original owners name gladly given on request. The only reason for this car being traded in was the fact that the owner bought a new Buick Coach. As the body lines have not changed on the Roadsters for some time it has the appearance of a 1926 model. New price on this car was $1,623. Now only $1,055.00.

OLDSMOBILE TOURING

1924 touring. Good cord tires, disc wheels. Upholstering, top and paint in good condition. Equipped with bumpers front and rear. Wind reflectors, visor, motometer, etc. Price $750.

BUICK TOURING

1920. 5 passenger. New winter curtains. Motor in good mechanical condition. 1925 license. Price $350

BUICK TOURING

Standard Six, 1925 model. Driven only 2,500 miles. 5 balloon tires. This car sold for $1,275. Clearance price $1,050

LEGAL NOTICES

sons owning lots, lands, or parcels thereof, fronting or abutting on North State Street, between C. & N. W. R. of Way and Wisconsin Avenue that said street has been ordered paved during the year 1925, and you and each of you are hereby notified to cause all underground work (connections to sewer, gas, and water mains) put in and completed during the season 1925.

Dated August 10, 1925.
By Order of the Common Council
E. L. WILLIAMS, City Clerk.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS
ON NORTH STATE STREET
Notice is hereby given to all per-al Republican party, provides for two year terms of officers and determines the number of delegates to state meetings on the basis of votes cast in preceding elections. Vacancies may be filled by the officers.

WANT NEW BLOOD

Election of Mr. Steele as president followed a nomination speech by Mr. Frank who pleaded for "new blood" in the Republican organization and warmly recommended Mr. Steele as a business man who is not afraid to make an active part in politics.

Delegates were elected after the meeting had separated in groups to elect delegates to the districts. The county was divided into nine districts with a delegate from each with the exception of the Kaukauna district which was allowed two, and the Appleton district which was allotted four delegates.

The districts are: No. 1, Bear Creek, Deer Creek, Maple Creek and Maine No. 2, Black Creek town and village and Center. No. 3, Hortonville, Hortonville, Dale, Greenville and Third ward of New London. No. 4, Kimberly, Combined Locks, Buchanan, No. 5, Little Chute, Vandenberg, Freedom and Oneida. No. 6, Shiocton, Bovina, Liberty and Ellington. No. 7, Seymour town and city, Osborn and Cicero. No. 8, Kaukauna, city and town. No. 9, Appleton and Grand Chute.

FOURTEEN DELEGATES

This apportionment gives the county 13 district delegates and one delegate-at-large. The delegates will all meet at Oshkosh at the Republican headquarters on Monday prior to the opening of the convention in Armory B of that city at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

Assemblyman Perry of Wauwatosa after outlining in brief the early beginnings of the Republican party which was organized in Ripon, severely criticized the present primary system of nominating candidates for office.

In the evening time, he said, platform of the candidates held before the nomination of candidates, but now the candidate nominated frame the political platform which the people must accept, whether they want it or not. Last year's state platform convention's repudiation of the national party platform was the first instance of its kind in the history of the party, he said. It was openly admitted, he said, that the convention was not a Republican convention but a Progressive party meeting using the name Republican for the sake of expediency.

He gave a lengthy account of the battles in the last legislature between the regular Republicans with the radical Progressives and the Socialists holding the balance of power in both houses, and described the "log rolling" tactics used in intimidating legislators to vote for the notorious tax bill and other measures.
